Stengel Fired As Yank Pilot

NEW YORK (UPI) — Casey Stengel, the most successful baseball manager of modern times, was fired by the New York Yankees today only because of his age and despite his heated insistence that at 70 he is "just as good as I ever was."

Showing unmistakable signs of emotion at times, the solemn, unsmiling Stengel said his departure from the Yankees was effected in "friendly fashion," although he spoke in biting terms of the ball club's new program to bring in "younger blood."

Even before Stengel announced he was leaving to a packed room of newspapermen, television and radio men, the Yankees announced they would hold another press conference Thursday, at which time Coach Ralph Houk is expected to be named Stengel's successor.

The firing of Stengel by co-owners Dan Topping and Del Webb brought to an end a fabulous 12-year career with the Yankees during which time Casey managed them to 10 American League pennants and seven world championships.

Flaming Crash On Waldo Puts 2 In Hospital

Auto Cuts Across Center Line, Slams Into Big Truck

The flaming crash of a northbound convertible on the Waldo Grade of Highway 101 today started a series of three accidents that sent two drivers to a hospital and saw two others in almost-miraculous escapes.

Dr. Steven Ross, 40, of San Francisco, was northbound in the fast lane near Rodeo Avenue at 9:16 a.m. when he cut across the center northbound lane and slammed into a semi-trailer truck, in the slow lane, driven by Eldreney Muckleroy, 50, of San Francisco, reported California Highway patrolman Samuel Thomas.

THROWN OUT

The crash threw Ross from his car. The driverless vehicle continued 80 feet, piled into the center divider and burst into flames.

Ross, with severe head injuries, was reported in fair condition this afternoon at Marin General Hospital.

Muckelroy was under treatment at the same hospital for less serious head injuries.

TRAFFIC BACKED

Traffic was backed up as the highway patrol called an ambulance for Ross and Muckelroy and a Marin City fire truck to put out the fire and wash gasoline from the road.

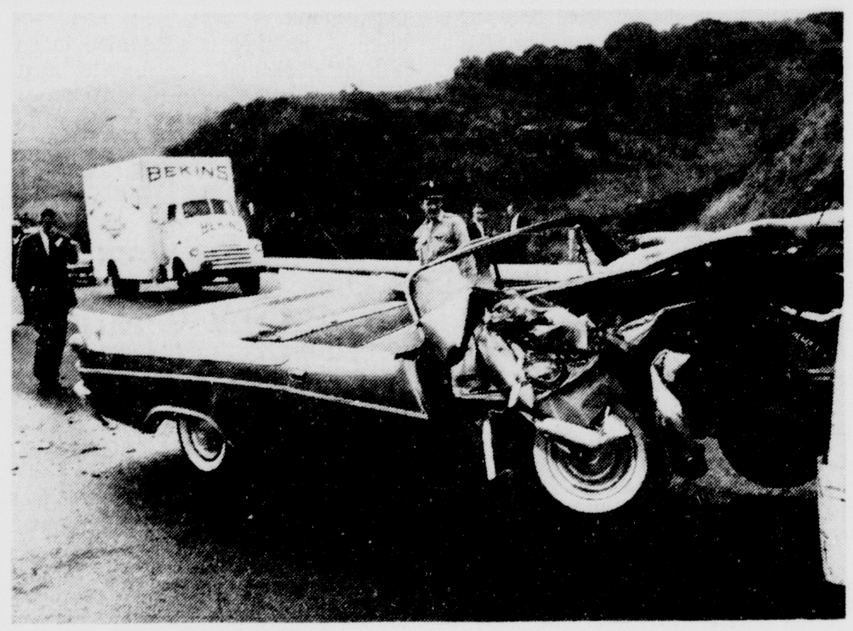

At 9:44 a.m., Donald P. Huber, 32, architect of 145 Hillcrest Avenue, Kentfield, also northbound, slowed suddenly for the traffic tie-up, about 100 yards south of the burning car, reported Highway Patrolman D. D. Snell. Huber's station wagon hit the center divider and overturned.

Huber emerged unscathed. But his wrecked car extended into the northbound fast lane, completing blockage of the northbound lanes of the highway.

Traffic was still snarled at 10:14 a.m. as Donald G. Valentine, 71, of San Mateo headed north in a 1959 Borgward.

Valentine hit the brakes, swerved against the center divider. His car careened off and skidded backwards across all three northbound traffic lanes.

Candidates Address Legion Convention

COMBINED AP AND UPI

MIAMI — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today the Castro regime in Cuba must be quarantined by free nations of the Western hemisphere.

Nixon, addressing the American Legion convention, also said that if he is elected President he would consider a U.S. veto fully justified to keep Red China out of the United Nations unless it proves that it adheres to standards of "world law and the principles of civilized behavior."

The vice president, following Sen. John F. Kennedy—his Democratic rival—to the Legion rostrum, said the United States should never relax its insistence upon a trustworthy system of inspection to accompany any disarmament agreement.

WOULDN'T RETREAT

Kennedy said that if he goes to the White House he would not cut the U.S. commitment "to the cause of freedom" anywhere in the world, including the Formosa Straits.

"I have never believed in retreating under fire," Kennedy said. "And this includes the Formosa Straits or anywhere else."

He also charged that the "harsh fact" is that American strength by comparison with that of the Soviet Union has slipped during the Eisenhower administration.

Nixon said he knows and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev knows that the United States is the "strongest nation in the world and will continue that way." But he added that America can never stand pat and "there will be necessary steps which will increase American strength."

CITES PATIENCE

The vice president touched on a number of defense and diplomatic issues — including Cuba, Red China and disarmament.

In excerpts distributed by his aides while he was in the middle of his address, Nixon said the "Castro regime has now exposed itself within the Western hemisphere as an intolerable cancer."

He said the United States has properly exercised great patience. But that under Castro, Cuba will continue to fester unless free nations of the West move promptly "to prevent further Soviet penetration."

He added:

"Our goal must be to quarantine the Castro regime. While this process goes forward, we will very promptly take the strongest possible economic measures to counter the economic banditry being practiced by this regime against our country and our citizens."

Nixon received a warm welcome from several thousand Floridians and vacationists who lined the streets leading to the Convention Hall.

Kennedy pledged that if elected president he would "summon all the resources of this great and strong republic to make the coming years the years when freedom grew strong and began to move ahead.

He said: "I want Mr. Khrushchev to understand another thing. If the Democratic Party

Couple Escapes Burning Home In San Rafael

A San Rafael couple escaped from their burning home last night, then the husband returned to rescue his dog as flames heavily damaged the two-story frame building and furnishings.

Mr. and Mrs. Nino Baglietto of 401 First Street had gone to bed at 10 p.m. At 11, Mrs. Baglietto called to her husband that the house was on fire. They ran downstairs and found the living room in flames.

RAN OUT BACK

The couple ran out the back door, then Baglietto returned to get his Chesapeake retriever.

Baglietto is the father of William T. Bagley, Republican candidate for the Assembly. He is a retired jeweler and formerly operated the Jewel Shop in San Rafael.

Deputy Fire Chief Vance Trivett said the blaze started in an upholstered davenport in the living room and may have been caused by a carelessly discarded cigarette.

He estimated damage to structure and furnishings was about $7,500.

IN LIVING ROOM

The fire was confined to the living room, where all the furnishings were destroyed. There was smoke damage throughout the top floor and slight water damage in the basement.

The flames broke through a window and burned part of the exterior of the building, too, Trivett said.

Two engines responded to the alarm.

A passerby, Ray Cerutti, saw flames leaping out the front windows, tried to open the screen door and cut his hand.

Fire Truck Use Hit In Larkspur

A helping hand, lent by Larkspur volunteer firemen to one of their number, backfired in a citizen's complaint today.

Mrs. Raymond M. Lally of 74 Madrone Lane, Larkspur, protested to the fire department, two city councilmen and the Independent-Journal that a Larkspur fire truck was used for moving furniture last Saturday.

RAPS COUNCILMAN

She complained also that Councilman Daniel Allen was "very belligerent about it" when she called to protest, and that whoever answered the telephone at the fire department was very uncommunicative.

Mrs. Lally said a fire truck "on the order of a pickup truck" but "equipped with the big lights and so on" passed her house eight times Saturday, going up Madrone empty and returning loaded with furniture. She said she saw mattresses and bed springs, among other items of furniture, on the truck.

DIFFERENT VERSION

Fire Chief George Bartram had a different version.

Bartram said he and four volunteers helped veteran volunteer fireman Frank Evansco move Saturday from a Madrone Lane home to another house he has rented.

The furniture, said Chief Bartram, was hauled in a United Moving and Storage truck operated by Layton Thorne.

County Probes Private Use Of Public Crane

Possibility that a county heavy equipment operator has been using county equipment for private purposes is under investigation, the Independent-Journal learned today.

The county employee in question is Edward Brown of Mill Valley, who works for the public works department. He is suspected of using a county crane to lift his boat out of the water at Strawberry last Sunday.

Public Works Supt. Marvin W. Brigham said today he has not yet talked to Brown, but he heard that the crane cable broke. However, the damage was slight, and the crane is back in use, he said.

$500 TOO MUCH

County Board Balks At City-Award Fund

Marin County board of supervisors balked today at spending $500 in an effort to win an All-American City award for the county.

Request for that amount came from Administrator D. A. Jensen to pay costs of sending the model of the civic center and pay his own expenses to make a presentation before the awards jury in Phoenix, Ariz., next month. Marin is one of the 22 finalists in the competition out of thousands of entries.

"What are we doing this for, just for the honor?" asked Supervisor William Fusselman. "We're on an austerity budget. We should weigh all of our expenditures and I think this is not compatible with our budget."

Jensen reported that last year in winning the award Vallejo had sent "60 or 70 people to Massachusetts" for the final 10-minute presentation to the judges. The winner receives nationwide publicity in Look Magazine, which sponsors the event, as well as on national TV hookups.

"I'm not against publicity, but I think this year this is an unnecessary expenditures," declared Fusselman.

Supervisor James Marshall said he believed it is "promotional" and the money should be appropriated.

Sup. William Gnoss noted that Jensen would be away for four days at the supervisors' and administrators' conventions at about that same time and wondered if it was wise to have him out of the county for a full week.

Fusselman declared: "I just can't justify it. We're spending $500 here and another $600 to send the supervisors to the supervisors association convention. That's $1,100 it's hard to justify."

Chairman Castro noted that Mrs. Vera L. Schultz was absent and suggested that a full board be present for the decision. She was to be there this afternoon. At least four votes are needed to approve the expenditure because it was not included in the county budget.

'Pillow Case' Burglars Strike Again In Ross

Ross Police Chief Joseph Regoni today disclosed Marin County's "pillow case" burglars struck a Ross home again last week.

At least $1,000 worth of personal property was taken from the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bauchou, 27 Wellington Avenue, Ross. Regoni said he waited for a complete inventory of stolen property before making public a report on the burglary.

The burglary was the fifth one in Ross in the last three months, and the third using the "pillow case" method to take away the loot, Chief Joseph Regoni reported.

The Bauchous were away on vacation when the break-in happened. The robbery was reported to police Saturday by a neighbor, Mrs. C. Coulter of 23 Wellington Avenue. Mrs. Coulter found the front door and window in the utility room open. The Bauchous returned home Sunday. They had been gone about a week.

Regoni said the burglars climbed in through the window, which had been left open slightly for ventilation. The crime looked like the work of more than one person, he said.

Upstairs the burglars threw bedclothes and clothing on the floor. Pillow cases were missing. Found to be missing so far are jewelry, men's and women's clothing, sterling silver, and a .32 caliber revolver.

They failed to take a fur coat and a number of hunting rifles, Regoni said.

Bauchou is still checking on the items missed.

The chief said the burglars apparently were the same ones who struck before in Ross and other parts of the county and used pillow cases for their stolen goods, or else they were imitators.

They left no fingerprints, and walked out through the front door with their loot, he added. The area is a densely populated one.

Baby's Identity Still Mystery

Mill Valley police today still had no identification of a baby found dead last week in a trash can at Old Mill Park.

Police said there was no report as yet from pathologists nor from the Bureau of Criminal Identification and investigation at Sacramento as to whether the baby had died before or after birth.

Unidentified Body Found Near Bridge

An unidentified body floating in the bay near San Rafael-Richmond Bridge, was recovered this afternoon by the Coast Guard. The body was being brought ashore at the Marinship area of Sausalito about 1 p.m.

It was not immediately learned whether the body was that of a man, woman or child. Coast Guard officials said the body may have been in the water for some time.

ENDORSEMENT OF TOOTHPASTE GETS SQUEEZE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The American Dental Assn.'s unprecedented endorsement of a particular brand of toothpaste has produced a particular brand of trouble: internal dissension.

But association president Paul H. Jeserich, replying to criticism from within the organization, says recognition of Crest toothpaste as "an effective decay preventive agent" was necessary and wise.

The ADA's First Northeastern Division has prepared a resolution saying the endorsement confused the public.

Nixon Mum On Negro For Cabinet

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon refused today to make any commitments on whether his cabinet would include a Negro if he is elected President.

Nixon's running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, for the second time in a week discussed a possible Negro Cabinet member at Albany, N. Y.

Nixon said he was making no promises about cabinet members.

Lodge's statement caught Nixon's aides by surprise. They heard it through a wire story. (See story on page 3).

$3 Million In Jewels, Stocks Reported Stolen

WEST HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Playboy Raoul Fernandez, widower of late Coca-Cola heiress Catherine Candler, told authorities today thieves stole three million dollars worth of jewelry and stocks from his apartment.

Fernandez, about 55, said he carried only "a very little" insurance on the $1 million worth of jewelry involved in last night's burglary, "much less than what it's worth."

He said this was because the items, which included a $45,000 collection of golf cuff links and gold cigarette cases worth thousands, "were mostly things I had no use for since my wife died four years ago."

The Jewelry was in a 100-pound safe along with $2 million worth of Coca-Cola stock which was not negotiable without Fernandez' signature.

Fernandez said the burglars overlooked an original Rembrandt painting he valued at $125,000.

Sheriff's deputies said thieves may have gained entrance to Fernandez' plush two-story duplex through a foot-square door cut out for the dog of the apartment's previous tenant. Fernandez has no dog.

Dare Not Stumble In U.N., Ike Says

RED WING, Minn. (AP)—President Eisenhower called today for a ceaseless struggle to strengthen and assure success of the United Nations, target of the Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's bitter attacks.

"We dare not stumble," Eisenhower declared in asserting that the United Nations offers the foundation for elimination of the causes of war.

The president vigorously championed the international organization in a speech prepared for dedication of the Hiawatha Bridge spanning the Mississippi River at the Minnesota-Wisconsin boundary.

Eisenhower, on a cross-country speaking tour flew here from Detroit. In the Michigan city last night the president said all the world's free nations must share the burden of resisting the Red threat lest Communist propagandists "playing their Pied Piper's tune" make new inroads around the globe.

In the Detroit address at the 43rd auto show dinner, Eisenhower also dealt with a domestic situation. He said the time has come for labor and management to conduct their affairs with ever increasing regard for national welfare.

"No longer," he added, can this nation permit either group to drag its feet in adopting preventive measures for prompt settlement of industrial disputes."

In his Red Wing speech, Eisenhower made no mention of Khrushchev's tirades against the United Nations and his threat to boycott the organization if the Soviet Union doesn't get its way.

But the timing of the president's remarks — less than a week after Khrushchev's climactic assault — marked his speech as an indirect reply to the Kremlin leader.

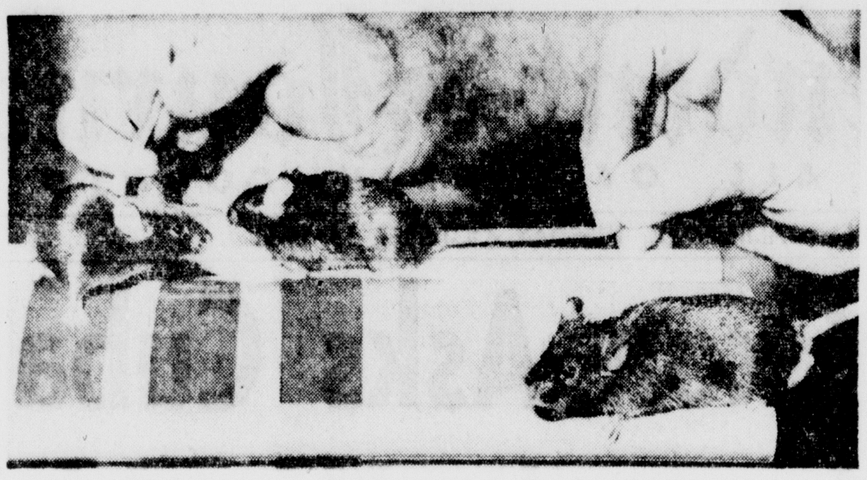

The president urged strengthening of the United Nations as the great forum for ventilating differences and for seeking workable compromises.

In his prepared text Eisenhower made one mention of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate for president. He recalled that in 1954 he gave Nixon the assignment of outlining the federal-state highway expansion program which Congress approved two years later.

Eisenhower noted today that the new bridge he dedicated is part of the federal-state program.

The White House says Eisenhower's 6,728-mile scheduled tour into six states, some of them with major electoral vote blocs, is non-political.

A central theme of Eisenhower's Detroit speech was that America must tolerate no retreat in the program of foreign aid. But he said emphatically that the free nations must help themselves and others to whatever extent possible.

Lodge 'Guesses' Negro Will Be In Cabinet—If

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge seemingly tripped up on words again today. He at first told reporters he promised that a Negro would be appointed to the federal cabinet if Vice President Richard M. Nixon were elected president. But later, he said it was his "guess."

"If Nixon is elected, there will be a Negro in the cabinet. This is a promise," the Republican candidate for vice president told reporters as he alighted from a plane at Albany Airport.

Later, in a television interview in Schenectady, Lodge said he could not promise there would be a Negro since the president would make the appointment.

"But I believe it will happen if Richard Nixon is elected," he said. "I will make that guess."

Previous Lodge statements on the subject had been interpreted as pledges, which he later denied.

In Schenectady, Lodge said that, on this issue, he had the right as a citizen to give his opinion as to the wisdom of appointing a Negro to the cabinet. He said Nixon's policy was that he would not make any commitments on cabinet appointments at this time.

Lodge said his own opinion was that it would be "a splendid thing to appoint a qualified Negro to the cabinet."

Felons Hold, Release 3 Prison Guards

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Three guards were overpowered and held as hostages for more than six hours early today by convict-patients in the hospital ward of the Connecticut State Prison.

The guards were released unharmed when prison officials granted the convicts' demand for a conference with a lawyer and a state representative. The few convicts involved gave themselves up.

Two of the prisoners, Walter Doolittle and Peter Kinosh, conefrred with attorney Roger Gleason and State Rep. Marshall N. Dudley. Gleason was Doolittle's lawyer in the past, and Dudley is a member of the legislature's committee on penal institutions.

After meeting with the prisoners, Dudley and Gleason said that appearently the whole thing was pointless.

They said neither prisoner presented any list of grievances during the 40-minute session.

Doolittle, they said, talked in a kind of distracted manner as if he were under the influence of a drug, reeling sleepily back and forth.

"I can't say what caused this thing," Gleason said. "I don't know. There was none of this business of 'We want better food' or anything like that."

Fourth Debate Friday Probably Will Be Last One

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fourth television debate between the presidential candidates Friday night probably will be the last of the campaign.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate, yesterday turned down a proposal by his opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy, for a fifth debate. He blamed scheduling difficulties.

Although Kennedy asked Nixon to reconsider, there seemed little chance their representatives would agree on anything beyond the fourth appearance.

Instead, Nixon suggested changing the format of the fourth debate. First, he proposed extending it from one hour to two hours and, second, he suggested the candidates respond to questions from the public as well as questions from the newsmen. But Kennedy rejected the whole idea.

Nixon's position on a fifth debate drew some barbed remarks from Kennedy. In Columbus, Ohio, Kennedy said: "I don't understand how anyone can stand up to Soviet Premier Khrushchev, can argue with Khrushchev, can put his finger in Khrushchev's face, but can't meet his Democratic opponent here in the United States."

Teacher Tells Of Russian Spy Charge

VIENNA, Australia (AP) — A young American teacher, convicted by a Soviet court as a spy, said today he pleaded guilty to espionage charges because the Russians told him he would get a light sentence.

The teacher, Mark I. Kaminsky, 28, of Niles, Mich., was sentenced Sept. 16 to seven years imprisonment. The sentence was suspended and he was expelled from the Soviet Union, where he had been touring with a companion.

Kaminsky's traveling companion, Harvey C. Bennett, 26, of Tracy, Calif., who was expelled with him, denied the announcement by Moscow Radio that he had "denounced" Kaminsky as a spy during the trial.

The pair arrived in Vienna last night, coming via Czechoslovakia. They told the U.S. consulate they would leave for the United States as soon as possible.

Japan Election To Test Pro-West Government

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan started preparing today for national elections which will test whether the pro-Western government retains popular support in the face of bitter attacks from communists and other left wingers.

Emperor Hirohito opened an extraordinary session of parliament this morning less than a week before the lower house is scheduled to go out of business.

He said in his brief address that Japan was facing "a grave situation internally and externally."

Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's government announced last night the house of representatives would be dissolved Oct. 24. He did not announce a date for new elections but they must be held within 46 days after that. Government circles said the date probably would be Nov. 20.

Despite the leftist attacks on the ruling conservative government over Japan's military ties to the United States, the conservatives have done well in by-elections since violence forced cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit last June.

However, the assassination of Socialist Party leader Inejiro Asanuma by a young rightwing extremist last week has stirred up a new leftwing hat campaign against the conservatives.

Dag Says Russ Trying To Rob U.N. Of Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold charged today that Russia, seeking to cut the United Nations budget, seemed intent on robbing the U.N. of its ability to intervene in world crises.

Hammarskjold rejected charges made yesterday by Soviet delegate A. A. Roschin that he engaged in "extravagant spending" to further U.S. policies in the Congo, Laos and Guinea. Roschin demanded a 50-million-dollar ceiling on the U.N. budget and opposed Hammarskjold's 1961 U.N. budget of 67.5 million.

CHARGES FOLLOW-UP

The secretary-general told the U.N. administrative and budgetary committee that Roschin "obviously followed up the operation forcefully started" by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to replace Hammarskjold with a three-man presidium to run the world organization.

The political committee, considered the heart of the General Assembly, organized this morning and immediately plunged into a procedural wrangle touched off by Nigeria's suggestion that the problems of African development and independence be considered before the disarmament question is taken up.

AGREEMENT MADE

The Nigerian delegation agreed, however, to take up the African question after the disarmament debate.

At the end of its four-week policy debate, the assembly last night voted 91-0, with eight countries absent, in favor of a 28-power resolution calling on all countries to "refrain from actions likely to aggravate international tensions."

Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin voted for it along with the other nations and then promptly rose to attack U.S. "aggression" against Russia, blame the West for the arms race and demand reorganization of the U.N. secretariat to Communist tastes.

Five New Police Cars Bought By San Rafael

San Rafael police will have five new blue and white Dodge police cars within the next three weeks, the city council decided last night.

The council accepted the low bid of Hart's Dodge, 1542 Fourth Street, San Rafael, of $10,759.16, including sales tax for the five vehicles.

The new fire chief's car, replacing a 1955 Plymouth, will be a Ford sedan from Ames Ford Sales, San Rafael. It's bid was $1,944.68, including $300 for the trade-in.

SEVEN BIDS

Seven bids were received for the six vehicles. The bids for police cars ranged upwards to $13,062 for Pontiacs; the fire car up to $2,510 also for Pontiac.

The new Dodge police pursuit cars are the same models used by the California Highway Patrol.

The cars will have white front doors with the city seal in gold. They will have standard transmissions instead of automatic, which have proved too costly, and outside loudspeakers to be installed by the city.

REPLACE '59 MODELS

They replace four 1959 Fords bought by the city in the fall of 1958 which have averaged 64,000 miles on each car. These vehicles will be overhauled and made available to three city departments: building, recreation and planning. Employees of these departments previously used their own cars and were paid from $10 to $75 a month on a pre-determined usage basis.

The extra car ordered by the police department is needed for increased service to areas annexed to the city during the past two years, according to Paul Richards, administrative assistant to the city manager.

Councilmen postponed decision on a $10,000 project to buttress Pierce Road in Picnic Valley with a 150-foot-long concrete wall.

Norris M. Rawles, supervisor of public works, said the timber retaining wall erected around 1928 is in danger of giving way and letting the street collapse. He said the narrow street handles about 15 cars a day.

Action on an assessment district requested by property owners along Francisco Boulevard from East Railroad Avenue to the Marin Rod and Gun Club, to put in curbs, gutters, sewers and water mains was held over until the next meeting.

The council voted 4-0 (Councilman Fred Jensen absent) to accept four small strips of land bordering roads in Terra Linda Unit 1 from Eichler Homes Inc. One of the parcels borders Golden Hinde Boulevard in front of Hartzell School, which the council said it intends to donate to the school district. There are two-eight-foot strips on Nova Albion Way and another 22-foot strip in front of the proposed Don Timoteo School on Nova Albion Way.

In other action last night, the city council:

1. Approved the final map of Marin Professional Center Unit 3 on Professional Center Parkway and Channing Way, east of the Redwood Highway, subject to a legal correction.
2. Joined the county's civil defense operations plan.
3. Awarded the contract for putting in streets, curbs, gutters and sewers in the Rafael Racquet Club Estates to Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael, the low bidder, for $118,021.60. The work is to be financed by an assessment district.
4. Hired Mrs. Billie Meader of 429 Calle De Mesa, Novato, as a parking enforcement officer effective Oct. 10 at $317 per month.
5. Gave final adoption to ordinances amending the rubbish dump ordinance which describes specifications for a dump (although dumping is still illegal under the zoning ordinance); rezoning 124 Ross Street from duplex to apartment and rezoning 35,000 square feet of state-owned property along Francisco Boulevard frontage road from heavy commercial-manufacturing to planned commercial-light industrial.

Girl, 16, Injured In Fall From Bike

Sherry West, 16, of 79 Spruce Road, Fairfax, suffered cuts and bruises yesterday afternoon when she fell from her motor bicycle as a dog ran after her in the 100 block of Forrest Avenue, Fairfax.

She was treated at San Rafael General Hospital.

City To Keep Rafael Street, Improve It

Is Rafael Street to become a street or be abandoned?

That is what City Planner Don Newmark asked the San Rafael City Council last night.

The unimproved dirt right-of-way labeled Rafael Street extends roughly 1,200 feet from Canal Street to Bellam Boulevard in East San Rafael.

"It's unbelievable to suggest abandoning the street," declared Mayor John F. McInnis. "The street is necessary for the developing traffic pattern."

Newmark said the planning commission wanted to know whether the roadway should be abandoned and turned into a landscaped buffer zone between apartments and industry or an assessment district should be formed to improve the street.

"We can't tell the property owners to form an assessment district," McInnis said.

The council decided on piecemeal improvement of the street.

As each lot-owner fronting Rafael Street applies to improve his property, he should be required to improve his portion of the street (from the curb to the center of the road).

City Engineer Dominic Selmi told the council that putting in a 35-foot wide street with curbs and gutters for the whole length would cost about $38,000.

REINDEER HERD NEVER HEARD OF KHRUSHCHEV

VADSOE, Norway (AP)—Defying security-conscious Soviet border guards, 500 reindeer have crossed into the Soviet Union from Norway's northernmost province of Finmark.

Frantic efforts by Lapp herders to stop the animals were of no avail.

Said Finmark's border commissioner, Audun Magnus: "We have asked the government for money to make proper fences along the border. So far we have got nothing."

Now the Soviets and the Norwegians are preparing for the complicated red tape necessary for repatriation of the defectors.

Teacher Pay Meeting Set In Novato

High school teachers and trustees of Novato Unified School District will meet tonight at the high school on the teachers' request for a salary increase.

The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock in the school cafeteria.

Teachers have asked that trustees commit themselves by Dec. 15 on whether there will be salary increases for the 1961-62 school year. The request came at a school board meeting Sept. 27, when 25 teachers appeared to back a petition signed by all 44 high school teachers.

The petition stated that the Novato salary schedule was not "competitive" with other high school schedules.

It's Frontage Road Again In San Rafael

San Rafael is stuck with a "Frontage Road" across from Terra Linda again.

A decision by the San Rafael City Council last night puts the city right back where it started two months ago: with Fairchild Semiconductor Corp. and the merchants along the road unhappy.

After discussing half a dozen names for the frontage road on the east side of Highway 101, the city council on Aug. 15 labeled it Redwood Parkway.

The California Division of Highways declared the name would confuse motorists since the freeway is called Redwood Highway.

"This thing has built itself into a mountain," explained Councilman Louis H. Baar.

Semiconductor has spent $25,000 on advertising throughout the world using the Redwood Highway and then parkway addresses, he said.

By a vote of 4-0 (Councilman Fred E. Jensen absent) the council revoked the name Redwood Parkway. The street automatically returns to the name Redwood Highway frontage road.

Hypnosis Helpful

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Pain is about 90 per cent anxiety, says Dr. Oscar Morphis, a radiologist.

The X-ray specialist said that since pain comes largely from emotional stress, hypnosis can be helpful in relieving it. He said hypnosis makes the patient more relaxed and confident—before, during and after X-ray treatment.

San Rafael Slates Hearing On Adopting New City Code

A public hearing on the adoption of the new San Rafael Municipal Code was set for 8 p.m. Nov. 7 by the city council last night.

One hundred copies of the 412-page city codebooks arrived from the printers on Oct. 4 ending a seven-year struggle to codify the city ordinances.

Included in the codebooks are all city ordinances which provide penalties for violation, the city charter and its 13 amendments, and the construction codes and standards (building, electrical, fire and a dozen others).

A public hearing is required so that any ordinance included in the code which was not previously on the city's law books may be heard by the public.

City Atty. Albert E. Bagshaw said, however, the code includes no ordinance that has not already been enacted by the council. He said future new ordinances would be added to the code.

Since a preliminary codification of city ordinance was authorized in 1954, the city has spent $8,600 on the project. Preparing of the 100 bound codebooks was done by the Book Publishing Co. of Seattle for $4,600.

Stop Signs Rejected By City Council

"There are too many stop signs slowing up traffic in San Rafael now," City Councilman David Menary Jr. declared last night.

Other San Rafael councilmen agreed and rejected a proposal to give the intersections of Irwin Street and Belle Avenue, and Lincoln Avenue and Francisco Boulevard fourway stop signs.

"I don't think that more stop signs at these intersections are an adequate solution to the traffic problem," said Mayor John F. McInnis.

The traffic committee proposed stopping northbound traffic on Lincoln Avenue at Francisco Boulevard to allow east-west vehicles to get across.

They wanted the northbound traffic on Irwin Street stopped at Belle Avenue to prevent cars from speeding around the corner and jumping the curb.

Both recommendations were referred back to the traffic committee for reconsideration.

Some Roll Call

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)— When 1st Sgt. Stephen M. Sluck called the role of new members of the 3277th School Squadron at Lackland Air Force Base, some of the names had a familiar ring.

Among the men assigned to the squadron were Daniel Boone, William Penn, Edward G. Robinson and Woodrow Wilson.

Gallinas Home Owners Sue For Sewer Hookups

Owners of land around the Gallinas Village Shopping Center went to court today to get more sewer connections so they can develop more homes and commercial buildings in the area.

International Invesment Co. Inc., Jonwil Corp. and P. J. Tarrant filed the suit in Marin Superior Court against Gallinas Village Services District and a host of county officials.

The plaintiffs say they are successors to J. D. O'Connor, who put in the first eight units of Gallinas Village. They say they have land around the shopping center zoned for residential and commercial ready to develop but cannot go ahead because the county says the sewage disposal plant is insufficient.

The plaintiffs say O'Connor put in a septic tank for the first 200 homes. Then in 1954, the county asked that those homes be connected to a sewer disposal plant. The suit alleges that O'Connor installed the plant and connected up the 200 homes on condition that this would not impair the rights of future owners of land to have the plant available to them. The Gallinas Village Service District took over the plant in 1959.

The suit asserts that the disposal plant has sufficient capacity for new development, and even if it does not, 200 more connections would be available if the first 200 homes had not been tied in to the plant.

Board Upsets Liquor Ban Near Colleges

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state's outright ban on sale of hard liquor within a mile of colleges was upset today by the Alcoholic Beverage Appeals Board. It said each case must be decided on its merits.

The board reversed the Alcoholic Beverage Control Department's action denying an on-sale general license to a restaurant on grounds it is too close to UCLA.

The three-man appeals board, in a unanimous decision, said mere proximity to a campus does not create a threat to public morals.

The department's denial of a license to a restaurant and drive-in said the place was not patronized by a great number of students, but that it was too close to the campus.

The 1959 Legislature passed a law permitting bona fide restaurants within the one and a half mile "dry zone" to serve hard liquor.

The department, acting on Gov. Brown's orders, adopted a subsequent rule that such places must be far enough from the campus and the nature of their business such that they will not be patronized by students.

The appeals board said it is "abundantly clear" that the Legislature intended to change the law permitting sale within a mile of campuses when it passed the 1959 law.

Reactor Plant For PG&E Is Favored

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pacific Gas & Electric Co. will be allowed to build a nuclear reactor near Eureka, if an examiner's decision is approved by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Examiner J. D. Bond, in a decision released today, recommended that PG&E be granted a permit to build a 50 megawatt boiling water reactor at Buhne Point.

The firm would be allocated 2,754 kilograms of uranium 235 for operation of the power generating reactor.

If the commission makes no review on its own motion and no exceptions are filed, the examiner's decision will become final Nov. 8.

The facility would be completed between Jan. 1, 1962, and July 1, 1963.

Bond said the company has submitted sufficient information to provide reasonable assurance that the facility can be built and operated without undue risk to the health and safety of the public; the firm is technically qualified to design and construct the plant, and construction of the reactor "will not be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public."

The reactor would be part of PG&E's Humboldt Bay power plant. Its guaranteed gross electrical output would be 50,000 kilowatts and its expected gross output at least 60,000 kilowatts.

Youth Cited; Car Nearly Hit Deputy's Auto

A 16-year-old Novato youth, whose car nearly ran into a sheriff's patrol car last night, was cited for speeding, reckless driving, and driving without a license.

Sheriff's Deputy Robert diGrazia said several residents along Arthur Street near Novato High School complained about students "making a racetrack" out of the street. They said racing and speeding is worst in the morning, at noon recess, and when school lets out.

DiGrazia was patrolling South Novato Boulevard about 6 p.m. yesterday when he saw a two-door sedan shoot out of Arthur Street and speed toward him, passing other cars. The 16-year-old driver just managed to swing back into his lane before hitting diGrazia's patrol car, the officer said.

When diGrazia turned around and gave chase, the youth turned off into South Novato Boulevard and shut off the lights and ignition, the officer reported. The youth explained he did so because he has no driver's license.

2 Mill Valley Schools Broken Into

Two schools were broken into last night in Mill Valley—Old Mill and Homestead—and the burglars got away with a total of $3.50, but left all pennies behind.

The office at Old Mill School was found in a mess at 7:15 a.m. today by Alfred Bedecarrax, transportation foreman for Mill Valley schools. The front door had been pried open, the office files, key and milk money bags strewn over the floor.

Fifty cents was missing from envelopes in a drawer but the school's working money in a safe nearby was untouched.

Police reported that from fingerprints taken in the office it appeared a job done by youngsters.

At Homestead School, someone used a screwdriver to manipulate the locks of the kindergarten room and a door in the main office.

Drawers were pulled out, papers thrown about and the office left in shambles. A strong box containing about $3 was broken open and money taken, except for 10 or 15 pennies.

Bartram pointed out that he and four members of the volunteer fire department were with the truck, which is radio-equipped, and ready to respond to any call from the firehouse, which was manned.

"If people want to get on my back over something I did wrong, they're welcome to do so," said Bartram. "But there was nothing wrong in this."

Mrs. Lally, however, protested that the truck belongs to the taxpayers and its use to help out a volunteer constituted, indirectly, the use of taxpayers' money for private purposes.

Auto Driver Pleads Guilty To Charges

David C. Stephens, 29, whose small foreign car rolled over on Grand Avenue near Linden Lane in San Rafael Sunday night, pleaded guilty to three misdemeanor charges in Marin County Municipal Court yesterday and then went to the hospital for treatment.

Stephens, of 12 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, was treated for a chest injury, cuts and scratches at Marin General Hospital and released. One of his passengers, a 17-year-old San Rafael girl accompanied him to the hospital and was treated for multiple bruises and rib pains.

Judge Harold J. Haley ordered Stephens to appear at 1:30 p.m. Thursday for sentencing on charges of dumping trash on the highway, furnishing beer to a minor and driving without due caution.

He suspended Stephens' license for 30 days and released him on his own recognizance.

Police Officer Leon A. de Lisle Jr. of San Rafael said Stephens was driving east on Grand Avenue about 6:30 p.m. Sunday when he lost control of the car on a turn, rolled over and landed upright against a hedge at 1731 Grand Avenue.

Police found two beer bottles inside the car and several on the ground. They said his two passengers, San Rafael girls, 17 and 20, had both been drinking.

The trio said they had spent the afternoon drinking at Stinson Beach. The girls were released to their parents. Stephens was booked at the county jail.

Stengel left no doubt he was pushed and did not jump.

"I was told that my services will not be desired any longer," he said simply.

Already deluged by offers, Casey said his future plans were "indefinite."

Owner Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox has offered Stengel a job.

Topping pointed out that Stengel will not leave the Yankees empty-handed. He said that through the club's profit-sharing plan Casey would "have an amount exceeding $160,000 to his credit as a so-called bonus" on Oct. 31.

"Webb and Topping are in agreement that there should be an age limit," Stengel said with a gesture of helplessness.

The Yankees' new policy also is expected to bring about the departure shortly of 66-year-old General Manager George Weiss, often called the guiding genius behind the Yankees' success.

"The man who takes over ain't getting a dead ball club. It's a mighty good team and it has been rebuilt from the ground up."

Burglars Ransack School Offices

Burglars broke into two San Rafael schools last night, ransacked the offices, but apparently left without any loot.

They pried open the door to the E Street School and strewed papers around the principal's office, custodian John A. Thompson of 120 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo, reported at 6:45 a.m.

At the Coleman School, Belle Avenue and Rafael Drive, they pried open a rear door and ransacked the offices.

No loss was reported at either school.

About $570 worth of valuables is missing from the summer home of George La Motte in Black Point, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Among missing items are a crystal punch bowl worth $300, silver tea pots, two statues of Buddha, antique clock, silver sugar bowl and spoon, and candlesticks.

The front door to the home had been smashed open sometime before Sunday. Nancy Williams of 104 Leibert Lane, Black Point, discovered the door damage Sunday while horseback riding.

Mary Heebner Services Held

Private funeral services for Mrs. Mary Heebner, a resident of Marin County for 60 of her 83 years, were held today at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Her home was at 1884 Centro West, Tiburon. She died at a San Rafael rest home Sunday after a long illness.

Mrs. Heebner was staunchly American in spirit and preferred to consider that she had lived in the United States all her life. On the record she missed this by only a few weeks. She was born in what was then Pest, Austria-Hungary, in 1877, but her parents brought her to this country immediately afterward.

The family first settled in South Dakota. When Mrs. Heebner was a child they moved to the Mendocino coast and she lived in California for the rest of her life.

They moved to the Tiburon Peninsula when she was 13. It was there that Mrs. Heebner married the late Charles Heebner, a tool and die maker employed by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. He died in 1936.

During earlier years she was active in the Church Guild of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Belvedere, as well as the Mothers' Club.

Gallinas Home Owners Sue For Sewer Hookups

Owners of land around the Gallinas Village Shopping Center went to court today to get more sewer connections so they can develop more homes and commercial buildings in the area.

International Invesment Co. Inc., Jonwil Corp. and P. J. Tarrant filed the suit in Marin Superior Court against Gallinas Village Services District and a host of county officials.

The plaintiffs say they are successors to J. D. O'Connor, who put in the first eight units of Gallinas Village. They say they have land around the shopping center zoned for residential and commercial ready to develop but cannot go ahead because the county says the sewage disposal plant is insufficient.

The plaintiffs say O'Connor put in a septic tank for the first 200 homes. Then in 1954, the county asked that those homes be connected to a sewer disposal plant. The suit alleges that O'Connor installed the plant and connected up the 200 homes on condition that this would not impair the rights of future owners of land to have the plant available to them. The Gallinas Village Service District took over the plant in 1959.

The suit asserts that the disposal plant has sufficient capacity for new development, and even if it does not, 200 more connections would be available if the first 200 homes had not been tied in to the plant.

Board Upsets Liquor Ban Near Colleges

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state's outright ban on sale of hard liquor within a mile of colleges was upset today by the Alcoholic Beverage Appeals Board. It said each case must be decided on its merits.

The board reversed the Alcoholic Beverage Control Department's action denying an on-sale general license to a restaurant on grounds it is too close to UCLA.

The three-man appeals board, in a unanimous decision, said mere proximity to a campus does not create a threat to public morals.

The department's denial of a license to a restaurant and drive-in said the place was not patronized by a great number of students, but that it was too close to the campus.

The 1959 Legislature passed a law permitting bona fide restaurants within the one and a half mile "dry zone" to serve hard liquor.

The department, acting on Gov. Brown's orders, adopted a subsequent rule that such places must be far enough from the campus and the nature of their business such that they will not be patronized by students.

The appeals board said it is "abundantly clear" that the Legislature intended to change the law permitting sale within a mile of campuses when it passed the 1959 law.

Reactor Plant For PG&E Is Favored

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pacific Gas & Electric Co. will be allowed to build a nuclear reactor near Eureka, if an examiner's decision is approved by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Examiner J. D. Bond, in a decision released today, recommended that PG&E be granted a permit to build a 50 megawatt boiling water reactor at Buhne Point.

The firm would be allocated 2,754 kilograms of uranium 235 for operation of the power generating reactor.

If the commission makes no review on its own motion and no exceptions are filed, the examiner's decision will become final Nov. 8.

The facility would be completed between Jan. 1, 1962, and July 1, 1963.

Bond said the company has submitted sufficient information to provide reasonable assurance that the facility can be built and operated without undue risk to the health and safety of the public; the firm is technically qualified to design and construct the plant, and construction of the reactor "will not be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public."

Burglars Ransack School Offices

Burglars broke into two San Rafael schools last night, ransacked the offices, but apparently left without any loot.

They pried open the door to the E Street School and strewed papers around the principal's office, custodian John A. Thompson of 120 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo, reported at 6:45 a.m.

At the Coleman School, Belle Avenue and Rafael Drive, they pried open a rear door and ransacked the offices.

No loss was reported at either school.

About $570 worth of valuables is missing from the summer home of George La Motte in Black Point, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Among missing items are a crystal punch bowl worth $300, silver tea pots, two statues of Buddha, antique clock, silver sugar bowl and spoon, and candlesticks.

The front door to the home had been smashed open sometime before Sunday. Nancy Williams of 104 Leibert Lane, Black Point, discovered the door damage Sunday while horseback riding.

Mrs. Charles M. Gunn, a resident of Sausalito for 60 years, died at her home of a stroke yesterday following a short illness. She was 87.

Mrs. Gunn had lived at her family home at 22 Sunshine Avenue with her sister, Miss Louise Howland, for over 50 years.

Her late husband, Charles M. Gunn, was mayor of Sausalito in 1916-1918 and her son, Robert M. Gunn of Sausalito was mayor from 1950 to 1952, having been a councilman from 1943 to 1950. Mrs. Gunn's husband died in 1948.

A housewife and homemaker, Mrs. Gunn was very active in community affairs. She was one of the founders of the Sausalito Mothers Club which preceded the Parent-Teacher Assn. in Sausalito.

She had been very active in Christ Episcopal Church and was a member in the church of St. Margaret's Guild. She was also a longtime member of the Sausalito Woman's Club and was active in the community in Red Cross work.

A native of Salt Lake City, Mrs. Gunn came to California more than 80 years ago. She lived in San Francisco prior to coming to Sausalito in 1900 at the time of her marriage.

In addition to her sister and son Robert, Mrs. Gunn is survived by three children, Mrs. Erich Kruger and Mrs. Ernest W. Denicke, both of Ross, and Mrs. Joseph Conlon of Palo Alto. She is also survived by nine grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending at the N. Gray and Co. in San Francisco.

Mary Heebner Services Held

Private funeral services for Mrs. Mary Heebner, a resident of Marin County for 60 of her 83 years, were held today at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Her home was at 1884 Centro West, Tiburon. She died at a San Rafael rest home Sunday after a long illness.

Mrs. Heebner was staunchly American in spirit and preferred to consider that she had lived in the United States all her life. On the record she missed this by only a few weeks. She was born in what was then Pest, Austria-Hungary, in 1877, but her parents brought her to this country immediately afterward.

The family first settled in South Dakota. When Mrs. Heebner was a child they moved to the Mendocino coast and she lived in California for the rest of her life.

They moved to the Tiburon Peninsula when she was 13. It was there that Mrs. Heebner married the late Charles Heebner, a tool and die maker employed by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad. He died in 1936.

During earlier years she was active in the Church Guild of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Belvedere, as well as the Mothers' Club.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. John E. (Abra) Lang of San Rafael, four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Monk resided at 149 Center Street, San Rafael, with his wife, Margaret. He was a member of the Eagles Lodge of San Rafael and the Marin Rod and Gun Club. He was a native of South Africa.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a brother, Albert Monk of Richmond and a sister, Mrs. Ida McLennan of Novato.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m., Thursday at the Harry Williams Mortuary, San Rafael, and will be conducted by the Elks Lodge. He will be entombed at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Edward Spohr Rites Tomorrow

Funeral services for Edward Spohr, 90, of 64 Hillside Drive, Fairfax, will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow at Olivet Columbarium Chapel, Colma. He died at his home Sunday in his sleep.

Spohr, a resident of Marin about 23 years, was a retired employee of the Palace Hotel in San Francisco where he had been in charge of the wine department.

A native of Denmark, he came to this country as a young man. He had lived in California 66 years.

Spohr never married. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Minnie Hoffmeyer of San Francisco, and a niece, Lillian Hoffmeyer of San Francisco.

Duplex Zone Approved For Meadowsweet Area

Corte Madera Town Council last night settled one long-standing dispute and set public hearings for Nov. 7 on three other old problems.

The council unanimously adopted a planning commission recommendation that a seven-acre parcel in the Meadowsweet area be re-zoned from C-1 to R-2, permitting duplexes or units of "duplex density."

Developers of the area had originally requested permission to build 98 apartment units. Meadowsweet residents turned out in force, and defended the rustic nature of the area so vigorously that the plan was watered down to a duplex density request. In the "density" situation, the builder is not restricted to building duplexes only, but may lump his allowance for the whole area into one building, provided he keeps the building lower than 45 feet high, meets setback requirements and provides units of a specified minimum size.

In contrast to the violence of the previous opposition, only one Meadowsweet resident showed up at last night's meeting, and offered no real criticism of the change. The rezoning passed without a murmur.

PUBLIC HEARINGS

Three consecutive public hearings were set for the council's meeting of Nov. 7. At 8:30 p.m., the council will consider a recommendation from the planning commission that all home business permits expire on Jan. 1, 1963, and that the town council may extend or renew each one individually on application.

The recommendation stems from a controversy generated by issuance of a permit to an osteopath to practice in her home. One hundred eleven residents signed a petition asking that the permit be revoked.

An 8 p.m. hearing will be held on a proposed change in the ordinance restricting the size of signs placed before commercial buildings and apartments.

VARIANCE PROBLEM

Immediately following the occupations permit hearing, the council will consider a variance granted by the planning commission to D. L. Hughes.

John Adlard, sole dissenting member of the planning commission when it granted the variance, has filed an appeal. Adlard said he is acting in his capacity as a citizen of the town, and not as a member of the commission.

The variance would allow Hughes to rebuild a home at 357 Corte Madera Avenue on a lot smaller than required by the zoning ordinance. The original home on the property was destroyed by fire.

The appeal filed by Adlard accuses the commission of "failing to give due weight to the facts, abusing its discretion, and committing a grievous error."

Novato Girl, 16, Vanishes From Home

A 16-year-old Novato girl left a note saying she is "going out on her own" and vanished from her foster home yesterday morning with all her belongings packed in six suit cases, sheriff's deputies reported today.

She is Linda Kay Martin, 16, who is 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighs about 105 pounds, and has long brown hair and brown eyes.

Leroy M. Bouchey of 577 Fernando Drive, foster father, called the sheriff at 9 a.m. yesterday. He said the girl must have slipped out the window between 1 and 6 a.m. Someone must have helped her in the getaway because her six suitcases were gone, he reported.

A note which she left said she could not go on "being bossed by anyone," and was getting away as far as she could from Marin.

Burglar Gets Seven Years

Herbert J. Meier, 31, of Fairfax, was sentenced to one to seven years in prison by a Marin County Superior Court judge yesterday for the attempted burglary of the Woodlands Restaurant in Kentfield.

Meier, of 66 Taylor Drive, had pleaded guilty to the charge. Sentence was pronounced by Judge N. Charles Brusatori.

Gordon C. McAndrews, 36, of the same address, who was arrested with Meier on Sept. 5, pleaded innocent yesterday. A jury trial was set for Nov. 29 and 30 and Dec. 1 and 2.

Sheriff's deputies found the pair on the roof of the restaurant on College Avenue, with a crowbar and a pair of white socks which the officers said, could have been used for concealing finger prints.

200-Plus Cats Will Compete In Marin Show

More than 200 cats and kittens have been entered in the ninth annual championship show of the Marin County Cat Fanciers, Oct. 29-30 in the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

The feline competitors for ribbons, rosettes and trophies will come from all over California. In addition to the Siamese, Burmese, Abyssinian, longhairs and other exotic breeds, there will be a large class of domestic shorthairs—the "American" breed of cat.

There also is a large representation in the popular "household pets" division, for cats of beauty and distinction who don't fit in the standard breed classifications.

Judging will begin at 10 a.m. both days. Proceeds will benefit the Marin County Humane Society, which has been equipped with cat cages financed by previous Marin County Cat Fanciers' shows and other fund-raising activities.

Show manager is William R. Deeths of 74 Wellington Avenue, Ross. Judges will be Mrs. Louise Sample, Anoka, Minn., all-breed show; Mrs. Marguerita Gofroth, La Mesa, longhair specialty; and Mrs. Ralph C. Boren, San Diego, short hair specialty show.

New Income Tax Forms For Elders

WASHINGTON (AP)—Starting Jan. 1, taxpayers who are 65 or older will have to file a special income tax form in addition to their regular return if they want to claim deductions for medical expense.

Internal Revenue Service officials said today they are designing the new form to comply with a law which Congress passed almost without notice nearly six months ago.

The form also will be used by those who claim deductions because they pay the medical bills of parents or parents-in-law who are 65 or older.

Taxpayers 65 and older have been entitled to special benefits for several years. They can deduct all medical expenses, within certain broad limits, whereas younger taxpayers can deduct only those medical bills exceeding 3 per cent of their taxable income.

Corte Madera Votes Against Parttime Help

Corte Madera will hire no part time personnel, its town council decided last night.

The decision was reached after considerable sould searching after Town Manager Arthur Brandow proposed that Reginald Tooker, a street crew employee who reaches retirement age in November, be retained until Jan. 1, and then continue on a one-day per week basis as a maintenance man with the fire department. "He's doing good work, and we need the skills he has," Brandow declared.

Tooker has no retirement benefits, but will be eligible for social security in January. The council rejected the request, and moved a resolution that it "does not take a favorable stand on part-time employees."

The council unanimously approved appointment of Robert LaDow to the planning commission to fill the unexpired term of Boyd N. Moore.

The council deferred reading of a report of the Corte Madera-Larkspur Joint Recreation Committee and accepted an announcement that the committee will meet hereafter on the fourth Thursday, instead of the third Tuesday.

An agreement with the State Personnel Board to prepare, hold and grade tests for town employees was approved by the council.

In other action, the council:

1. Heard a report on planned signals at Tamalpais Drive at the Eastman and Corte Madera Avenue intersections.

2. Postponed to Dec. 5 a report of the finance committee on possible annexation of Palm Hill, between Corte Madera and Larkspur.

3. Postponed to Nov. 7 reports of the recreation center management committee and a committee on signals for the Paradise Drive Railroad crossing.

4. Authorized the town manager to purchase loam for the town park on an informal bid basis, not to exceed a total of $1,000 at a rate not to exceed $1.75 per cubic yard.

5. Authorized the town manager to negotiate an agreement with Daniel Coleman Engineering Co. for engineering of phase two Paradise Drive improvements.

6. Discussed a planned development in the Madera Park Tract and cautioned that any application for building permits be referred to the council if a variance from existing ordinances might result.

7. Discussed prospects of assisting the Mariner Cove area with a proposed playground and transmitted a letter from the Larkspur School District indicating a generally favorable view on the idea of placing a playground on the planned Mariner Cove School grounds.

8. Accepted the report of the 1960 Fourth of July fireworks committee, with expressions of congratulations for a fine job.

Drunken Drivers Draw Sentences

Two drunken drivers were fined yesterday by Judge Harold J. Haley in Marin Municipal Court. One of the drivers lost his driving privilege for two months.

Gordon Dale Krause, 33, of the Meadow Club, Fairfax, drew $158 fine and six months probation. He may not drive for two months. He was caught on Redhill Avenue in San Anselmo on Sept. 23.

Bruce Eugene Goetz, 33, of San Bruno, must pay $184 fine and remain on six months probation. He was caught on Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur on Sept. 30.

CORTE MADERA DRIVE AGAINST CRIME CITED

Corte Madera police are solving 39 per cent of the crimes committed in their area, according to Town Manager Arthur M. Brandow.

This is an impressive record, Brandow declared at last night's council meeting, since the statewide average is only 25 per cent.

Applications for addition of another policeman are now being; accepted, Brandon stated, and a competitive examination will be given by the state personnel board in the council chamber Nov. 29.

It is hoped to have the new man on duty in early December, he said.

Double-Session Plan In Sight In Tam Schools

Redwood High School must go on some form of double session next year as result of defeat of the proposed three million-dollar bond issue for Tamalpais High School District, the district board was told last night.

Double sessions are in sight for Sir Francis Drake and Tamalpais High Schools also in 1962.

The predictions were made by Supt. Chester G. Carlisle in response to a question from Trustee Howard McGill.

The board called on the citizens advisory committee to report by its next meeting, Nov. 7, as to when another bond election should be set, and whether the amount asked should again be three million dollars or possibly some greater sum.

The possibility of a six-million-dollar issue was mentioned.

The board authorized filing of application under the National Defense Education Act for installation of a language laboratory at Tamalpais High School, such laboratories having already been put into the other two schools of the district.

Presidents of the student bodies of the three high schools spoke on how their student governments operate. They are Stewart Hindley of Tamalpais, Michael Bresnan of Sir Francis Drake and Ned Griffith of Redwood.

Five exchange students from the three schools also appeared.

Language Study Progress Told

Ross School children are showing good progress on study of French and Spanish as regular features of the curriculum this year, according to a report to the Ross School Board last night.

The board heard that these languages, formerly taught only before and after school sessions, are being given on an introductory basis in the fourth through sixth grades, with conversational-basis teaching equivalent to the first year of high school in the seventh and eighth grades.

Incineration Changes Due In January

New regulations for controlling air polution, effective Jan. 1, 1961, will call for major changes in incineration throughout the six counties of the Bay Area Pollution Control District.

Tight controls will be exercised on all stores, commercial and industrial operations and multiple unit dwellings, warned Benjamin Linsky, control officer of the district, at today's breakfast of the Marin County Real Estate Board at King Cotton Restaurant.

First obligation of those affected will be to register the type of their operations so that they may receive information on regulations applying to them, he said.

Vegetation damage from smog in the Bay Area is about one million dollars a year, and there have been cases where a "big stink" and "dirty" neighbors have been responsible for the relocation of industrial plants, Linsky declared.

The effect in Marin County has not been as bad as elsewhere, he noted—one reason why there has not been as much voluntary support in Marin for the control district's program.

Looking ahead to additional legislative controls, Linsky said there will be exhaust devices on all passenger and commercial vehicles by 1963 and restrictions on backyard trash burning are probably three or four years away. Fireplaces and barbecues are part of our way of life in the Bay Area and he doubts that controls will be applied this far.

Right now the important thing is to clean up the "big stuff"—incinerators, commercial and industrial fumes and improper disposal of large-scale waste materials, he declared.

Burglary Suspects Plead Innocent

Two men charged with the $5,625 burglary of the Miracle Music Store in San Rafael pleaded innocent in Marin County Municipal Court yesterday.

Charles E. Parrish, 25, and William H. Walker, 27, both of San Francisco, waived preliminary hearing and were ordered to appear for arraignment in Superior Court on Monday by Judge Harold J. Haley.

The two were arrested less than 12 hours after the burglary Oct. 9 in which enough musical instruments were stolen to start a band.

Gov. Wants Californian Put In Next Cabinet

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown declared today at least one Californian should land in the next presidential cabinet and he offered one candidate for a Democratic administration.

The Democratic governor said California has men who would make good secretaries of defense, commerce or interior or could join the attorney general's staff.

He put in that Rep. John F. Shelley, San Francisco Democrat, is his own candidate for secretary of labor. Shelley was active in the state and American Federation of Labor before he went to Congress.

The governor mentioned no names for the other cabinet posts.

Brown's statements came at a news conference at which he predicted victory for Sen. John F. Kennedy.

"Every person knows that Kennedy has been gaining," he said. "It's a slow gain but it's there. I think that's true all over the country."

The one "X" factor, as he termed it, is the religious issue. Brown, like Kennedy a Roman Catholic, said he didn't know how to measure it.

Still, he said those people who say the presidential race shapes up as close in California don't know what they're talking about.

"I don't think it's close," he said. "Victory for Sen. Kennedy is going to surprise the entire nation."

Brown said Adlai Stevenson's supporters were a little slow getting into the campaign behind Kennedy after the Democratic convention but that "they're really in now" and the state party is solidly united.

There are a few unknowns who "sell themselves out," the governor said, in Democrats for Nixon, but in the main the Democrats of California are backing Kennedy.

Brown said the Massachusetts senator is talking more to the issues and facts of the campaign than Vice President Nixon.

"I think Nixon is back where he was in 1952 and 1956," he said. "The only thing he knows is attacks on his opponent."

Teachers Must Police Their Own, Educator Says

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—The education world needs "policing by its own members" to weed out incompetent teachers and administrators, according to a California educator.

Dr. Dan Dawson of Burlingame, executive secretary of the California Elementary School Administration Assn., made the statement yesterday at a meeting of the Oregon Elementary School Principals Association.

He said efforts were being made in California to weed out the incompetents. He cited establishment of a personnel standards commission, which sets up standards for educators and evaluates them.

Ondine Files Slander Suit Over Parking

Ondine Enterprises, Inc., which operates the Ondine Restaurant in Sausalito, filed a $20,000 slander suit today in Marin Superior Court against a citizen who criticized the restaurant's practice in parking customer cars.

Ondine, represented by attorney Benjamin Dreyfus, charges Frank V. Pistolesi of 579 Bridgeway, Sausalito, of making "false and malicious" statements and injuring the restaurant's reputation.

According to Ondine, Pistolesi appeared before the Sausalito City Council on Oct. 4 and made this statement: "These people (Ondine) charge 50 cents for parking on the lot and then park the cars on the street."

The statement implies that Ondine conducts its business dishonestly and cheats and defrauds customers who are seeking to use the restaurant's parking facilities, the suit alleges. Ondine asserts that Pistolesi's statement was false and malicious.

Ondine seeks $5,000 general damages and $15,000 punitive damages.

Corte Madera Votes Against Parttime Help

Corte Madera will hire no part time personnel, its town council decided last night.

5. Authorized the town manager to negotiate an agreement with Daniel Coleman Engineering Co. for engineering of phase two Paradise Drive improvements.

6. Discussed a planned development in the Madera Park Tract and cautioned that any application for building permits be referred to the council if a variance from existing ordinances might result.

7. Discussed prospects of assisting the Mariner Cove area with a proposed playground and transmitted a letter from the Larkspur School District indicating a generally favorable view on the idea of placing a playground on the planned Mariner Cove School grounds.

8. Accepted the report of the 1960 Fourth of July fireworks committee, with expressions of congratulations for a fine job.

CORTE MADERA DRIVE AGAINST CRIME CITED

Corte Madera police are solving 39 per cent of the crimes committed in their area, according to Town Manager Arthur M. Brandow.

This is an impressive record, Brandow declared at last night's council meeting, since the statewide average is only 25 per cent.

Applications for addition of another policeman are now being; accepted, Brandon stated, and a competitive examination will be given by the state personnel board in the council chamber Nov. 29.

It is hoped to have the new man on duty in early December, he said.

Incineration Changes Due In January

New regulations for controlling air polution, effective Jan. 1, 1961, will call for major changes in incineration throughout the six counties of the Bay Area Pollution Control District.

Tight controls will be exercised on all stores, commercial and industrial operations and multiple unit dwellings, warned Benjamin Linsky, control officer of the district, at today's breakfast of the Marin County Real Estate Board at King Cotton Restaurant.

First obligation of those affected will be to register the type of their operations so that they may receive information on regulations applying to them, he said.

Vegetation damage from smog in the Bay Area is about one million dollars a year, and there have been cases where a "big stink" and "dirty" neighbors have been responsible for the relocation of industrial plants, Linsky declared.

The effect in Marin County has not been as bad as elsewhere, he noted—one reason why there has not been as much voluntary support in Marin for the control district's program.

Looking ahead to additional legislative controls, Linsky said there will be exhaust devices on all passenger and commercial vehicles by 1963 and restrictions on backyard trash burning are probably three or four years away. Fireplaces and barbecues are part of our way of life in the Bay Area and he doubts that controls will be applied this far.

Right now the important thing is to clean up the "big stuff"—incinerators, commercial and industrial fumes and improper disposal of large-scale waste materials, he declared.

Gov. Wants Californian Put In Next Cabinet

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown declared today at least one Californian should land in the next presidential cabinet and he offered one candidate for a Democratic administration.

The Democratic governor said California has men who would make good secretaries of defense, commerce or interior or could join the attorney general's staff.

He put in that Rep. John F. Shelley, San Francisco Democrat, is his own candidate for secretary of labor. Shelley was active in the state and American Federation of Labor before he went to Congress.

The governor mentioned no names for the other cabinet posts.

Brown's statements came at a news conference at which he predicted victory for Sen. John F. Kennedy.

"Every person knows that Kennedy has been gaining," he said. "It's a slow gain but it's there. I think that's true all over the country."

The one "X" factor, as he termed it, is the religious issue. Brown, like Kennedy a Roman Catholic, said he didn't know how to measure it.

Still, he said those people who say the presidential race shapes up as close in California don't know what they're talking about.

"I don't think it's close," he said. "Victory for Sen. Kennedy is going to surprise the entire nation."

Brown said Adlai Stevenson's supporters were a little slow getting into the campaign behind Kennedy after the Democratic convention but that "they're really in now" and the state party is solidly united.

There are a few unknowns who "sell themselves out," the governor said, in Democrats for Nixon, but in the main the Democrats of California are backing Kennedy.

Brown said the Massachusetts senator is talking more to the issues and facts of the campaign than Vice President Nixon.

"I think Nixon is back where he was in 1952 and 1956," he said. "The only thing he knows is attacks on his opponent."

Ondine Files Slander Suit Over Parking

Ondine Enterprises, Inc., which operates the Ondine Restaurant in Sausalito, filed a $20,000 slander suit today in Marin Superior Court against a citizen who criticized the restaurant's practice in parking customer cars.

Ondine, represented by attorney Benjamin Dreyfus, charges Frank V. Pistolesi of 579 Bridgeway, Sausalito, of making "false and malicious" statements and injuring the restaurant's reputation.

According to Ondine, Pistolesi appeared before the Sausalito City Council on Oct. 4 and made this statement: "These people (Ondine) charge 50 cents for parking on the lot and then park the cars on the street."

The statement implies that Ondine conducts its business dishonestly and cheats and defrauds customers who are seeking to use the restaurant's parking facilities, the suit alleges. Ondine asserts that Pistolesi's statement was false and malicious.

Ondine seeks $5,000 general damages and $15,000 punitive damages.

Duplex Zone Approved For Meadowsweet Area

Corte Madera Town Council last night settled one long-standing dispute and set public hearings for Nov. 7 on three other old problems.

The council unanimously adopted a planning commission recommendation that a seven-acre parcel in the Meadowsweet area be re-zoned from C-1 to R-2, permitting duplexes or units of "duplex density."

Developers of the area had originally requested permission to build 98 apartment units. Meadowsweet residents turned out in force, and defended the rustic nature of the area so vigorously that the plan was watered down to a duplex density request. In the "density" situation, the builder is not restricted to building duplexes only, but may lump his allowance for the whole area into one building, provided he keeps the building lower than 45 feet high, meets setback requirements and provides units of a specified minimum size.

In contrast to the violence of the previous opposition, only one Meadowsweet resident showed up at last night's meeting, and offered no real criticism of the change. The rezoning passed without a murmur.

PUBLIC HEARINGS

Three consecutive public hearings were set for the council's meeting of Nov. 7. At 8:30 p.m., the council will consider a recommendation from the planning commission that all home business permits expire on Jan. 1, 1963, and that the town council may extend or renew each one individually on application.

The recommendation stems from a controversy generated by issuance of a permit to an osteopath to practice in her home. One hundred eleven residents signed a petition asking that the permit be revoked.

An 8 p.m. hearing will be held on a proposed change in the ordinance restricting the size of signs placed before commercial buildings and apartments.

VARIANCE PROBLEM

Immediately following the occupations permit hearing, the council will consider a variance granted by the planning commission to D. L. Hughes.

John Adlard, sole dissenting member of the planning commission when it granted the variance, has filed an appeal. Adlard said he is acting in his capacity as a citizen of the town, and not as a member of the commission.

The variance would allow Hughes to rebuild a home at 357 Corte Madera Avenue on a lot smaller than required by the zoning ordinance. The original home on the property was destroyed by fire.

The appeal filed by Adlard accuses the commission of "failing to give due weight to the facts, abusing its discretion, and committing a grievous error."

200-Plus Cats Will Compete In Marin Show

More than 200 cats and kittens have been entered in the ninth annual championship show of the Marin County Cat Fanciers, Oct. 29-30 in the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

The feline competitors for ribbons, rosettes and trophies will come from all over California. In addition to the Siamese, Burmese, Abyssinian, longhairs and other exotic breeds, there will be a large class of domestic shorthairs—the "American" breed of cat.

There also is a large representation in the popular "household pets" division, for cats of beauty and distinction who don't fit in the standard breed classifications.

Judging will begin at 10 a.m. both days. Proceeds will benefit the Marin County Humane Society, which has been equipped with cat cages financed by previous Marin County Cat Fanciers' shows and other fund-raising activities.

Show manager is William R. Deeths of 74 Wellington Avenue, Ross. Judges will be Mrs. Louise Sample, Anoka, Minn., all-breed show; Mrs. Marguerita Gofroth, La Mesa, longhair specialty; and Mrs. Ralph C. Boren, San Diego, short hair specialty show.

Double-Session Plan In Sight In Tam Schools

Redwood High School must go on some form of double session next year as result of defeat of the proposed three million-dollar bond issue for Tamalpais High School District, the district board was told last night.

Double sessions are in sight for Sir Francis Drake and Tamalpais High Schools also in 1962.

The predictions were made by Supt. Chester G. Carlisle in response to a question from Trustee Howard McGill.

The board called on the citizens advisory committee to report by its next meeting, Nov. 7, as to when another bond election should be set, and whether the amount asked should again be three million dollars or possibly some greater sum.

The possibility of a six-million-dollar issue was mentioned.

The board authorized filing of application under the National Defense Education Act for installation of a language laboratory at Tamalpais High School, such laboratories having already been put into the other two schools of the district.

Presidents of the student bodies of the three high schools spoke on how their student governments operate. They are Stewart Hindley of Tamalpais, Michael Bresnan of Sir Francis Drake and Ned Griffith of Redwood.

Five exchange students from the three schools also appeared.

Teachers Must Police Their Own, Educator Says

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—The education world needs "policing by its own members" to weed out incompetent teachers and administrators, according to a California educator.

Dr. Dan Dawson of Burlingame, executive secretary of the California Elementary School Administration Assn., made the statement yesterday at a meeting of the Oregon Elementary School Principals Association.

He said efforts were being made in California to weed out the incompetents. He cited establishment of a personnel standards commission, which sets up standards for educators and evaluates them.

Novato Girl, 16, Vanishes From Home

A 16-year-old Novato girl left a note saying she is "going out on her own" and vanished from her foster home yesterday morning with all her belongings packed in six suit cases, sheriff's deputies reported today.

She is Linda Kay Martin, 16, who is 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighs about 105 pounds, and has long brown hair and brown eyes.

Leroy M. Bouchey of 577 Fernando Drive, foster father, called the sheriff at 9 a.m. yesterday. He said the girl must have slipped out the window between 1 and 6 a.m. Someone must have helped her in the getaway because her six suitcases were gone, he reported.

A note which she left said she could not go on "being bossed by anyone," and was getting away as far as she could from Marin.

Burglar Gets Seven Years

Herbert J. Meier, 31, of Fairfax, was sentenced to one to seven years in prison by a Marin County Superior Court judge yesterday for the attempted burglary of the Woodlands Restaurant in Kentfield.

Meier, of 66 Taylor Drive, had pleaded guilty to the charge. Sentence was pronounced by Judge N. Charles Brusatori.

Gordon C. McAndrews, 36, of the same address, who was arrested with Meier on Sept. 5, pleaded innocent yesterday. A jury trial was set for Nov. 29 and 30 and Dec. 1 and 2.

Sheriff's deputies found the pair on the roof of the restaurant on College Avenue, with a crowbar and a pair of white socks which the officers said, could have been used for concealing finger prints.

New Income Tax Forms For Elders

WASHINGTON (AP)—Starting Jan. 1, taxpayers who are 65 or older will have to file a special income tax form in addition to their regular return if they want to claim deductions for medical expense.

Internal Revenue Service officials said today they are designing the new form to comply with a law which Congress passed almost without notice nearly six months ago.

The form also will be used by those who claim deductions because they pay the medical bills of parents or parents-in-law who are 65 or older.

Taxpayers 65 and older have been entitled to special benefits for several years. They can deduct all medical expenses, within certain broad limits, whereas younger taxpayers can deduct only those medical bills exceeding 3 per cent of their taxable income.

Drunken Drivers Draw Sentences

Two drunken drivers were fined yesterday by Judge Harold J. Haley in Marin Municipal Court. One of the drivers lost his driving privilege for two months.

Gordon Dale Krause, 33, of the Meadow Club, Fairfax, drew $158 fine and six months probation. He may not drive for two months. He was caught on Redhill Avenue in San Anselmo on Sept. 23.

Bruce Eugene Goetz, 33, of San Bruno, must pay $184 fine and remain on six months probation. He was caught on Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur on Sept. 30.

Language Study Progress Told

Ross School children are showing good progress on study of French and Spanish as regular features of the curriculum this year, according to a report to the Ross School Board last night.

The board heard that these languages, formerly taught only before and after school sessions, are being given on an introductory basis in the fourth through sixth grades, with conversational-basis teaching equivalent to the first year of high school in the seventh and eighth grades.

Burglary Suspects Plead Innocent

Two men charged with the $5,625 burglary of the Miracle Music Store in San Rafael pleaded innocent in Marin County Municipal Court yesterday.

Charles E. Parrish, 25, and William H. Walker, 27, both of San Francisco, waived preliminary hearing and were ordered to appear for arraignment in Superior Court on Monday by Judge Harold J. Haley.

The two were arrested less than 12 hours after the burglary Oct. 9 in which enough musical instruments were stolen to start a band.

BAYVIEW HIGH

San Quentin Prison School Name Selected

Bayview High School was the name selected last night for the county school department-operated adult night school in San Quentin Prison.

The name was chosen from a list of 10 proposed by the staff of the educational program at the prison to the County Board of Education. Included in the list were such names as Tamal High School, Golden Gate High School, Horace Mann High School and Richard Nixon High School.

The board held a special meeting to decide the name last night because the first graduating class is due to receive diplomas tomorrow evening and the high school's name had to be decided so it could be printed on the diplomas.

This is the first year of operation of the prison school program by the county. Previously it has been under various high school districts and diplomas carried the name of the high schools. Prison educators were anxious that the school not carry the name San Quentin or any other which would closely tie it to the prison.

Also at the special meeting, the board approved purchase of two Chevrolet school buses from Gillig Brothers-Bianco Motors for a total five year installment-purchase cost of $5,119.38. Cash price would have been $4,561.68, but under the payment plan, trade-in of the bus can be made at any time with a stipulated refund of payments. Gillig-Bianco was low of five bidders, but the board purchased the Chevrolet rather than a GMC chassis which had been recommended to it by its mechanical superintendent. The Chevrolet was about $260 cheaper over the five-year period.

The board also approved newly revised regulations for its own operations, plus an appendix which deals with the legal powers and duties of a county board. Members refused, until further study, to approve a second appendix which deals with method of making interim appointments to the board. A committee of Adele S. Alpers, OB Cavanaugh and Alce Ann Rust was appointed to study it further.

Margaret L. Poutas, a teacher in the Ross School, was granted temporary teaching certificate pending processing of her regular credentials in Sacramento.

Million Negroes Predicted For State By 1970

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California's Negro population will exceed one million by 1970, and will confront the state's cities with the "greatest human challenge they have ever faced," declares a University of California municipal government expert.

"Before then we must face the question whether it is socially desirable to have ethnic groups concentrate in substandard islands in central cities or whether our suburbs will be opened up to people of all colors and creeds," Eugene C. Lee said yesterday.

Lee, assistant director of the University of California's Bureau of Public Administration, addressed the International City Managers Assn.

Lee said refusing to allow minority peoples freedom of choice in housing would result in deterioration of central cities, "the fountainheads of culture and creativeness."

"I don't think local government can escape responsibility for this problem and for leadership in finding the solutions. But cities can not go it alone," Lee said.

Lee reported California's Negro population now is about half a million. He said the problem of segregated substandard islands already is much in evidence in Oakland, Berkeley and San Francisco.

Lee predicted the new census would show that Berkeley has a one-quarter Negro population, one of the highest proportionate concentrations.

New Silver Method

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new method of tarnish-proofing sterling silver keeps the silver free from tarnish indefinitely.

During the tarnish-proofing, a layer of material is deposited on the silver. It will not peel and chip with age and it does not change the appearance of the silver, said Walter Hoving, chairman of Tiffany and Co., the firm that developed the process.

School Board To Hear Protest On Contract

Dixie School District trustees will hold a special meeting tomorrow night to review a protest against awarding the contract for Don Timoteo School site preparation to the low bidder, Supt. Dennie B. Willis announced today.

When bids were opened at the board's latest meeting, low bid was that of Wise and McGinty of Sonoma. However, the second low bidder, Bobo's of Ignacio, has protested that the Sonoma firm's grading contracting license does not entitle it to install storm drains and concrete ditching, which are included in the project.

Willis said he would have opinions from the State Contractors License Board and the county counsel's office to present to the board. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the district office at 4775 Redwood Highway, San Rafael.

Many In Marin City Feel TV Hookup Too Costly

The Marin City Tenants Council last night appointed a committee to meet with the Marin County Housing Authority to discuss a reduction in the charge of hooking up to the proposed master television antenna in the redeveloped area.

Hardy Westmore said he and Mrs. Rose Sweeney, council members, will form the committee. "Most people feel we can't afford the $4.50 per month per unit fee for hookup to the antenna," he said.

A survey has been made by the contractor Earl Stanton of San Francisco of one-third of the tenants in the low-rent housing project. He found almost no one willing to pay $4.50, reported Erwin C. Farley, deputy executive director of the housing authority.

Farley added that Stanton is working on ways to cut the cost and will report to the authority at its Nov. 7 meeting.

Three new members of the council were seated last night: Mrs. Elmer L. Manning, Ollie Thompson and Fred Gustafson. Mrs. James Homer, who had been recommended to the council, decided not to take the position and the tenants group is seeking one more person to fill the ninth seat.

Glen Robertson, past director of the tenants council recreation program, submitted a proposed budget of $6,000 for the 1960-61 recreation program.

The council accepted this in principal, Westmore said, but put the matter over to Nov. 7 for further discussion. The money is to be raised by the tenants, Westmore said. The community services district of Marin City sponsored a summer recreation program this year with a $1,500 budget.

Terra Linda Recreation Unit To Meet

Directors of Terra Linda's newly formed recreation district will hold their first meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Hoffman School.

Jack Brandon, one of the five directors elected Oct. 4, said the meeting would be devoted to organizational procedures and discussion of plans for a recreation bond election.

A recreation steering committee of the Terra Linda Community Services District has recommended a $220,000 bond issue as the highest with a good chance of passage.

A timetable for the election will be discussed.

Formation of the recreation district was approved Oct. 4.

WORDS BLAZE AFTER EARLY FIRE DRILL

It was 2:35 a.m. and all was peaceful in Marinwood.

Then a fire alarm broke the still of the night, and 14 of the Marinwood fire department's 20 volunteers piled out of bed. The volunteers and the truck rushed to Appleberry and Sequiera Roads.

There they found Fire Commissioner David Dryfoos, who had decided to test the department's response.

"It was a good drill," sighed Chief Donald G. Ray, "but there were several unprintable comments made. I had intended to call a drill this week, but not at 2:35 a.m."

New Homes Construction Drops, Demos, GOP Blame Each Other

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The construction of new homes dropped 17 per cent last month, the government reported today.

A Republican official blamed the slump on "pie in the sky" campaign promises by Democrats. A Democratic spokesman called the explanation "farfetched."

The Commerce Department report on September private housing starts was quickly followed up by housing administrator Norman P. Mason's claim that Democratic pledges on housing have led Americans "to hold off on home buying."

He referred specifically to proposals to reduce interest rates and to provide direct government housing loans in some cases.

Roger Tubby, news director of the Democratic National Committee labeled Mason's "a farfetched explanation."

"I suppose the Republicans are going to use the same argument to blame us for the high rate of bankruptcies and the 50 per cent (use) of steel capacity," Tubby said. "It follows the pattern of Republican demogoguery which we're getting so much of from Vice President Nixon."

The department said starts on construction of privately financed new homes dropped to an annual rate of 1,077,000 dwelling units. This was the lowest level in at least 21 months.

The decline last month reversed a small upturn in August which had followed two months of earlier decline.

The report indicated home building, which is off this year, does not appear to be responding to the stimulus of easier credit. This could be a bad sign because the government in the past has countered business slowdowns by pumping up home construction through easier money.

The housing starts report reinforced an earlier government report that industrial activity slid sharply in August and September.

The Commerce Department said work was started last month on 103,400 housing units including 97,800 privately financed.

Allowing for the usual seasonal slowdown in September private starts still were off 17 per cent from August and a heavy 29 per cent from September 1959.

The annual rate projected from the September figures was the lowest since at least January, 1959. The new statistical series on housing starts introduced earlier this year goes back only to January, 1959, so a comparison prior to that month is impossible.

Novato Council To Hear 2 Hot Plan Matters

The Novato City Council will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Hill School to consider two hot planning items. The Safeway Shopping Center and Wylie subdivision.

The official opening of the meeting and roll call will be at the city hall. From there, councilmen will adjourn to the school at Diablo Avenue and Hill Road, where there is more space for the expected large crowd.

Safeway Stores is asking for approval to build a supermarket, department store, various smaller stores, medical building and pharmacy on 11.5 acres near the three-way intersection of Diablo Avenue, Novato Boulevard and Highway 101.

HUSH-HUSH MEETINGS

Some city merchants have held hush-hush meetings to plan strategy against the proposed center. Others have publicly voiced approval. The county planning staff is opposed to the location for the center. The county planning commission turned down Safeway's application before Novato became a city.

A Safeway-sponsored sample survey of Novato residents showed a majority favored the center. The city planning commission approved rezoning for the shopping center at its Sept. 12 meeting. The vote was 6-0, with the absent commissioner later saying he would make the vote 7-0, unofficially.

The public hearing tonight is required by ordinance before the council can confirm rezoning. Decision on just what is to be built on the land must go before the planning commission and council.

SUBDIVISION DECISION

Councilmen also will be asked to come up with a decision on the Wylie subdivision. Subdivider H. C. Wylie charges that an agreement between Trousdale Construction Co. and the county calls for extension of San Jose Boulevard, 100 feet wide, through his land south of San Jose Creek and adjacent to Trousdale lands.

Philip A. Kennedy, attorney for Wylie, claims his client did not know of the county-Trousdale agreement, until he filed a tentative map for subdividing his acreage.

Wylie's subdivision map was turned down by the city planning commission because it did not allow for San Jose Boulevard extension.

Wylie is appealing to the council for reversal of the decision. The councilmen met in closed session Friday with city atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. to discuss legal aspects of the case.

Sausalito Council To Meet Tonight

A report on building construction in areas without fire mains will be heard by the Sausalito City Council which meets at 8 p.m. today.

There will also be a progress report on Marinship, now under study by planner Frederick H. Allen.

BAYVIEW HIGH

San Quentin Prison School Name Selected

Bayview High School was the name selected last night for the county school department-operated adult night school in San Quentin Prison.

The name was chosen from a list of 10 proposed by the staff of the educational program at the prison to the County Board of Education. Included in the list were such names as Tamal High School, Golden Gate High School, Horace Mann High School and Richard Nixon High School.

The board held a special meeting to decide the name last night because the first graduating class is due to receive diplomas tomorrow evening and the high school's name had to be decided so it could be printed on the diplomas.

This is the first year of operation of the prison school program by the county. Previously it has been under various high school districts and diplomas carried the name of the high schools. Prison educators were anxious that the school not carry the name San Quentin or any other which would closely tie it to the prison.

Also at the special meeting, the board approved purchase of two Chevrolet school buses from Gillig Brothers-Bianco Motors for a total five year installment-purchase cost of $5,119.38. Cash price would have been $4,561.68, but under the payment plan, trade-in of the bus can be made at any time with a stipulated refund of payments. Gillig-Bianco was low of five bidders, but the board purchased the Chevrolet rather than a GMC chassis which had been recommended to it by its mechanical superintendent. The Chevrolet was about $260 cheaper over the five-year period.

The board also approved newly revised regulations for its own operations, plus an appendix which deals with the legal powers and duties of a county board. Members refused, until further study, to approve a second appendix which deals with method of making interim appointments to the board. A committee of Adele S. Alpers, OB Cavanaugh and Alce Ann Rust was appointed to study it further.

Margaret L. Poutas, a teacher in the Ross School, was granted temporary teaching certificate pending processing of her regular credentials in Sacramento.

Million Negroes Predicted For State By 1970

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California's Negro population will exceed one million by 1970, and will confront the state's cities with the "greatest human challenge they have ever faced," declares a University of California municipal government expert.

"Before then we must face the question whether it is socially desirable to have ethnic groups concentrate in substandard islands in central cities or whether our suburbs will be opened up to people of all colors and creeds," Eugene C. Lee said yesterday.

Lee, assistant director of the University of California's Bureau of Public Administration, addressed the International City Managers Assn.

Lee said refusing to allow minority peoples freedom of choice in housing would result in deterioration of central cities, "the fountainheads of culture and creativeness."

"I don't think local government can escape responsibility for this problem and for leadership in finding the solutions. But cities can not go it alone," Lee said.

Lee reported California's Negro population now is about half a million. He said the problem of segregated substandard islands already is much in evidence in Oakland, Berkeley and San Francisco.

Lee predicted the new census would show that Berkeley has a one-quarter Negro population, one of the highest proportionate concentrations.

New Silver Method

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new method of tarnish-proofing sterling silver keeps the silver free from tarnish indefinitely.

During the tarnish-proofing, a layer of material is deposited on the silver. It will not peel and chip with age and it does not change the appearance of the silver, said Walter Hoving, chairman of Tiffany and Co., the firm that developed the process.

School Board To Hear Protest On Contract

Dixie School District trustees will hold a special meeting tomorrow night to review a protest against awarding the contract for Don Timoteo School site preparation to the low bidder, Supt. Dennie B. Willis announced today.

When bids were opened at the board's latest meeting, low bid was that of Wise and McGinty of Sonoma. However, the second low bidder, Bobo's of Ignacio, has protested that the Sonoma firm's grading contracting license does not entitle it to install storm drains and concrete ditching, which are included in the project.

Willis said he would have opinions from the State Contractors License Board and the county counsel's office to present to the board. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the district office at 4775 Redwood Highway, San Rafael.

Teachers To Meet

The Sausalito District Teachers' Assn. will meet at 3:30 p.m. Oct. 31 at Richardson Bay School at which time a new slate of officers, will be presented.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 18, the 292nd day of the year with 74 more in 1960.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1767, the boundary line between Maryland and Pennsylvania, popularly called the Mason-Dixon line, was finally settled.

In 1867, at ceremonies marking the formal transfer of Alaska from Russia to the United States, the Russian flag was lowered in front of the governor's residence in Sitka and the U. S. flag raised in its place.

In 1873, representatives of Princeton, Yale, Rutgers and Columbia met in New York and drew up the first rules to govern football.

In 1892, the first commercial long-distance telephone line was opened from New York to Chicago.

Thought for today: Scottish writer Robert Louis Stevenson said: "To be what we are, and to become what we are capable of becoming is the only end of life."

Many In Marin City Feel TV Hookup Too Costly

The Marin City Tenants Council last night appointed a committee to meet with the Marin County Housing Authority to discuss a reduction in the charge of hooking up to the proposed master television antenna in the redeveloped area.

Hardy Westmore said he and Mrs. Rose Sweeney, council members, will form the committee. "Most people feel we can't afford the $4.50 per month per unit fee for hookup to the antenna," he said.

A survey has been made by the contractor Earl Stanton of San Francisco of one-third of the tenants in the low-rent housing project. He found almost no one willing to pay $4.50, reported Erwin C. Farley, deputy executive director of the housing authority.

Farley added that Stanton is working on ways to cut the cost and will report to the authority at its Nov. 7 meeting.

Three new members of the council were seated last night: Mrs. Elmer L. Manning, Ollie Thompson and Fred Gustafson. Mrs. James Homer, who had been recommended to the council, decided not to take the position and the tenants group is seeking one more person to fill the ninth seat.

Glen Robertson, past director of the tenants council recreation program, submitted a proposed budget of $6,000 for the 1960-61 recreation program.

The council accepted this in principal, Westmore said, but put the matter over to Nov. 7 for further discussion. The money is to be raised by the tenants, Westmore said. The community services district of Marin City sponsored a summer recreation program this year with a $1,500 budget.

GRAHAM, N. C. (UPI) — Farmer E. F. Nicks' cantaloupe crop included one which weighed 34 ½ pounds, one 29 pounds and another 21½ pounds.

Terra Linda Recreation Unit To Meet

Directors of Terra Linda's newly formed recreation district will hold their first meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Hoffman School.

Jack Brandon, one of the five directors elected Oct. 4, said the meeting would be devoted to organizational procedures and discussion of plans for a recreation bond election.

A recreation steering committee of the Terra Linda Community Services District has recommended a $220,000 bond issue as the highest with a good chance of passage.

A timetable for the election will be discussed.

Formation of the recreation district was approved Oct. 4.

WORDS BLAZE AFTER EARLY FIRE DRILL

It was 2:35 a.m. and all was peaceful in Marinwood.

Then a fire alarm broke the still of the night, and 14 of the Marinwood fire department's 20 volunteers piled out of bed. The volunteers and the truck rushed to Appleberry and Sequiera Roads.

There they found Fire Commissioner David Dryfoos, who had decided to test the department's response.

"It was a good drill," sighed Chief Donald G. Ray, "but there were several unprintable comments made. I had intended to call a drill this week, but not at 2:35 a.m."

Council To Meet

Parks and recreation commission recommendations for the use of Mill Valley's 1.2-acre Syracuse Park will be heard by the Mill Valley City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the city hall.

New Homes Construction Drops, Demos, GOP Blame Each Other

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The construction of new homes dropped 17 per cent last month, the government reported today.

A Republican official blamed the slump on "pie in the sky" campaign promises by Democrats. A Democratic spokesman called the explanation "farfetched."

The Commerce Department report on September private housing starts was quickly followed up by housing administrator Norman P. Mason's claim that Democratic pledges on housing have led Americans "to hold off on home buying."

He referred specifically to proposals to reduce interest rates and to provide direct government housing loans in some cases.

Roger Tubby, news director of the Democratic National Committee labeled Mason's "a farfetched explanation."

"I suppose the Republicans are going to use the same argument to blame us for the high rate of bankruptcies and the 50 per cent (use) of steel capacity," Tubby said. "It follows the pattern of Republican demogoguery which we're getting so much of from Vice President Nixon."

The department said starts on construction of privately financed new homes dropped to an annual rate of 1,077,000 dwelling units. This was the lowest level in at least 21 months.

The decline last month reversed a small upturn in August which had followed two months of earlier decline.

The report indicated home building, which is off this year, does not appear to be responding to the stimulus of easier credit. This could be a bad sign because the government in the past has countered business slowdowns by pumping up home construction through easier money.

The housing starts report reinforced an earlier government report that industrial activity slid sharply in August and September.

The Commerce Department said work was started last month on 103,400 housing units including 97,800 privately financed.

Allowing for the usual seasonal slowdown in September private starts still were off 17 per cent from August and a heavy 29 per cent from September 1959.

The annual rate projected from the September figures was the lowest since at least January, 1959. The new statistical series on housing starts introduced earlier this year goes back only to January, 1959, so a comparison prior to that month is impossible.

Novato Council To Hear 2 Hot Plan Matters

The Novato City Council will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Hill School to consider two hot planning items: The Safeway Shopping Center and Wylie subdivision.

The official opening of the meeting and roll call will be at the city hall. From there, councilmen will adjourn to the school at Diablo Avenue and Hill Road, where there is more space for the expected large crowd.

Safeway Stores is asking for approval to build a supermarket, department store, various smaller stores, medical building and pharmacy on 11.5 acres near the three-way intersection of Diablo Avenue, Novato Boulevard and Highway 101.

HUSH-HUSH MEETINGS

Some city merchants have held hush-hush meetings to plan strategy against the proposed center. Others have publicly voiced approval. The county planning staff is opposed to the location for the center. The county planning commission turned down Safeway's application before Novato became a city.

A Safeway-sponsored sample survey of Novato residents showed a majority favored the center. The city planning commission approved rezoning for the shopping center at its Sept. 12 meeting. The vote was 6-0, with the absent commissioner later saying he would make the vote 7-0, unofficially.

The public hearing tonight is required by ordinance before the council can confirm rezoning. Decision on just what is to be built on the land must go before the planning commission and council.

SUBDIVISION DECISION

Councilmen also will be asked to come up with a decision on the Wylie subdivision. Subdivider H. C. Wylie charges that an agreement between Trousdale Construction Co. and the county calls for extension of San Jose Boulevard, 100 feet wide, through his land south of San Jose Creek and adjacent to Trousdale lands.

Philip A. Kennedy, attorney for Wylie, claims his client did not know of the county-Trousdale agreement, until he filed a tentative map for subdividing his acreage.

Wylie's subdivision map was turned down by the city planning commission because it did not allow for San Jose Boulevard extension.

Wylie is appealing to the council for reversal of the decision. The councilmen met in closed session Friday with city atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr. to discuss legal aspects of the case.

Sausalito Council To Meet Tonight

A report on building construction in areas without fire mains will be heard by the Sausalito City Council which meets at 8 p.m. today.

There will also be a progress report on Marinship, now under study by planner Frederick H. Allen.

A Dedicated Dreamer Dies Without Decision On His Plan

One of California's most dedicated dreamers is dead.

John Reber, 73, devoted the last 30 years of his life to the Reber plan. Years ahead of its time, this proposal for damming both ends of San Francisco Bay into fresh water lakes was designed by Reber for conserving the waters of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers, providing rail and highway transit between the East Bay and the San Francisco and Marin peninsulas, filling the tidelands of the Bay, providing underground facilities for national defense and many other things.

Reber was no engineer. But there were many reputable engineers who studied his plans and found them good. There were just as many who found the plan undesirable and said so sometimes violently.

John Reber was willing to fight for his dream. He was a regular visitor to Marin. He would come here to speak at the drop of an invitation and sometimes, if invitations hadn't been coming in fast enough, he'd come here to drum some up.

He followed his project's fate at the hands of federal officials with tenacity. He had great hopes that the Army Corps of Engineers' current Bay model study at Sausalito would prove his plan feasible.

Each time the federal government would approve another appropriation for continued work on the two-acre model, we at the Independent-Journal would hear it first from John Reber. His lines of communication to Washington were faster than ours.

But Reber didn't live to hear a report on his plan from the Engineers. Indeed, although they have worked out the location and the size of the Reber Plan barriers across the Bay, they have not yet inserted them in the model. So he died without ever having seen a working model of his proposal, much less learn whether the Engineers consider it feasible or not.

Dedicated men like John Reber are few and far between. He fought tenaciously, particularly when his theories were being challenged.

We did not embrace all of John Reber's proposal. It included a myriad of things, things like filling Richardson Bay and the mouth of Corte Madera Creek from San Quentin to Corte Madera. And like hollowing out the hills of Tiburon Peninsula for underground airports and bombproof torpedo boat berths.

But we respected John Reber's didication, his energy and devotion to his beliefs. He long ago foresaw California's water and transportation problems. And he offered a solution.

That's the type of man we appreciate knowing, whether he's right or wrong. We're sorry John Reber is gone.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

McCarthy Refuses To Talk Schools

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I wish to take this opportunity to call to the attention of the voters of Marin County State Senator McCarthy's lack of interest in public education in Marin schools.

On Sept. 29, the Marin County School Trustees Association held a meeting to which both Republican and Democratic candidates for sate senator and assemblymen were invited. Each candidate was to answer one question written to him in advance and then answer questions of the trustees from the floor.

Senator McCarthy did not show up but sent a lackey in his place with a written answer to one question. He gave no plausible excuse even though he had over two months' notice of the meeting and had accepted.

Perhaps the senator was afraid to answer questions on his views on public education. But even in that event he should not have accepted when first asked.

Perhaps the senator doesn't think that the school trustees of the county are important enough for him. I would like to point out to the illustrious senator that they are the ones directly responsible to the voters for education in this community.

Since California spends more money for education than for any other item in the budget, I am sure that the senator must admit this warrants his attention even if the education of children in public schools doesn't seem to concern him.

The candidates who did show up certainly did not have all the answers, but they kept their promise and showed a moral responsibility which is obviously lacking in Senator McCarthy.

If Senator McCarthy refuses to discuss education with those elected officials responsible for education in Marin then wtih whom will he discuss the matter?

ALAN M. SWABACKER
Trustee, San Jose
School District
Novato

(NOTE: Just to keep the record straight, Senator McCarthy did not send a "lackey" or anyone else to the meeting referred to by Reader Swabacker. He sent a letter of regret and enclosed his answer to the question asked him. The answer was read by a member of the school boards association.)

10 YEARS AGO

Marin highway improvements over the next five years were to center on extensive improvement of Highway 101 at the south entrance of San Rafael, according to state officials. Construction of a San Quentin Wye grade separation was to get early attention.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ELLEN BRY

Sgt. Martino Is One Character You're Glad To Have Around

T/Sgt. Tony Martino has two jobs at Hamilton Air Force Base.

He's one of the guys who will jump, probably from a helicopter, to reach a downed plane when getting there by wheel is impossible and by foot would take days. And he teaches water survival to pilots who daily take off over the mud flats adjacent to the base.

He tries to show them, in the swimming pool, how to doff the chute fast, how to inflate the wildly orange-colored life preserver which has replaced the Mae West and looks like a kid's water wings.

YOU SUGGEST taking a few photos at the pool. Martino "volunteers."

He climbs into the orange flying suit. He straps on the orange water wings which will hold him high out of the water. He drapes a parachute over the diving board of the officers' pool and attaches it to the harness wrapped and buckled around him. The parachute pack droops from his backside.

YOU GET INTO a rubber dinghy and maneuver into position. Martino jumps in, releasing the chute perfectly, as pilots are taught so they won't be dragged through the water and drowned. He paddles to the edge of the pool, gets out, dripping cold water from the fall-temperature pool which is shaded from the warm sun.

And you make the time-honored request: "Just one more."

Martino is a character. Walk around the base with him and he is greeted by everyone from airmen basic to colonels, all with a choice crack.

He hears your request, looks at you, water dribbling from him: "OK, babe, but you're going in too."

So Martino climbs up on the diving board again, puts on the rig, buckles the buckles and waits in the cooling breeze while you maneuver into position in the dinghy. And he jumps again.

He puddles out of the pool again, and you say "just one more." He jumps again.

BUT NOW THERE is a firm hand grabbing your arm and propelling you toward another flying suit. "C'mon, you're going to jump."

For once, Martino is open-mouthed and silent as you start to take off the old shirt and jeans in full view of the officers' club. He gulps, almost with relief, as he sees the swimming suit underneath.

You climb to the board and the bulky equipment is strapped on. You find a small rooting section of officers standing on the hill, as Martino asks if you're going to jump or want to be pushed.

You jump.

YOU'RE SUPPOSED to push the chute release buttons just as your feet hit the water. You push the buttons and release the catch, but the chute doesn't come free. You're ignominously dragged to the edge of the pool, feet first, while Martino released it.

You try to wrestle your way into the rubber raft from the water and feel like a whale climbing onto a water ski.

Later you're standing with an officer watching Martino yelling and energetically dragging equipment around.

"If you go down, it's nice to know a guy like Martino is around trying to get you out," the officer says.

FRESH CONCRETE HIS UNDOING

A youthful burglar left behind such a good impression in an Arkansas grocery store he had robbed that it landed him in jail.

The store's resourceful owner, exasperated at having his place looted several nights in succession, hit upon a novel idea for a trap.

He poured fresh cement around the entrance of his establishment and waited for results. Sure enough, the thief arrived, slogged through the thickening mass and made off with his booty.

Police had little trouble in locating the 16-year-old youth, redfaced and shoes covered with the sticky evidence. The money was recovered. Each of us leaves countless footprints, untold impressions, behind us—for better or for worse—in the course of a single day. In Longfellow's words:

"Lives of great men all remind us,
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time."

"Whatever you do, in word or in work, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus."
(Colossians 3:17)

May the world be a little brighter, O Lord, for my having lived in it.

CALIFORNIA—A MYSTERY STATE

Both Parties To Send Bigwigs On Last-Minute Vote Seeking

By JAMES C. ANDERSON

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California, a rich prize with 32 electrial votes, is a mystery state in the coming presidential election.

Although new registration figures show Democrats with a husky bulge of 1,368,922 voters over Republican totals, that by no means guarantees Californians will choose John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, over Richard M. Nixon on Nov. 8.

Californians, despite party registration which for a decade has run 3-2 Democratic, are an independent lot. Thousands of Democrats joined GOP votes in 1952 and 1956 to help elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Who is the favorite as of this moment—Nixon or Kennedy?

Proof that neither is can be found in the fact that both parties marshalled their biggest oratorical guns for a final assault on the golden state in the last three weeks of the campaign.

Kennedy, who already whistle-stopped the length of the state last September, plans to return for a double-barreled assault on vote - heavy Los Angeles and San Francisco the week before the election.

His running mate, Sen Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, will make his initial drive in California next week, with appearances in Los Angeles, San Diego, Fresno and Sacramento.

And that old warhorse, Harry S. Truman, will give the Kennedy-Johnson ticket a helping hand with a major speech at Berkeley on Oct. 28.

AS FOR THE Republicans, Nixon wound up a strenuous four-day swing through his home state last week. He will return once and maybe twice in the closing weeks of the campaign, concentrating on northern and central California and probably making a quick trip to Los Angeles.

His running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, has finished his campaign chores in California but the GOP will call on Thomas E. Dewey to give the ticket a helping hand with speeches in San Francisco and Stockton.

MANY OBSERVERS, after testing the political pulse in the state, predict Nov. 8th will be a cliff-hanger simular to the 1948 election.

In that year, when the Dewey-Warren ticket was a heavy favorite over Truman and Alben W. Barkeley, Truman finally won by only 17,865 votes out of a total of 4,076,981 cast.

It could be that close again. Less than three weeks before the election, the tide does not seem to be running strongly in California for either Nixon or Kennedy.

Marin County supervisors decided that $16,500 was too much money to put into jail remodeling, also that a jail kitchen proposed by the grand jury was impractical and too costly.

The San Rafael City Council passed a resolution of intent to proceed with widening of Fourth Street and told City Engineer Raymond Boege to prepare plans and specifications.

It Looks Like Boosts Are In Sight For Social Security Deductions

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The outlook for any stability, insofar as contributions to the old age and survivors' insurance program, administered by the federal government, are concerned, is not good at the present time.

In fact, no less an authority than Dr. Arthur Fleming, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, who visited Sacramento recently, says that by 1969, he expects the total contributions to the fund to amount to nine per cent of the total wages paid to people who come under the program, and this includes the greater percentage of the workers in the United States.

THIS WOULD MEAN four and a half per cent from employers of the nation, and the same amount from the workers.

The total is not unexpected. It was contemplated when the old age insurance plan started in 1937 that eventually, the tax would reach this amount.

Somewhat more disturbing, however, is the secretary's assumption that the taxes be pushed higher, in proportion to benefit liberalization, by whatever administration happens to be in office during the next 10 years.

THE PRESENT TAXES, he says, plus the proposed increases in the next 10 years, would be sufficient to finance the old age program,if nothing more is added to the program.

However, the outlook is for much more to be added in the form of benefits, with consequent increases in the contributions from employers and employees.

The history of the program has been one of additions. At the present time consideration is being given to increasing widow's benefits to make them in the same amount a deceased husband would have been receiving.

AND ANOTHER possible increase, Dr. Fleming said, would be inclusion of some four million people under the program who are old enough to receive benefits but who have never been in employment covered by provisions of the security law.

Such an action, he pointed out, might relieve some of the pressure on the states in regard to people who are drawing old age benefits, but the relief would not be in a large amount.

THEN TOO, there is constant consideration of the old age benefit payments. Of course, the trend has been for increases, due to increased costs of living and other factors which make more money necessary.

Altogether, the outlook is gloomy insofar as contributors to the fund are concerned, and the prospect of ever higher taxes is not conducive to bolstering the nation's economy.

The new teacher expected a tough ride when she faced her class for the first time, but one bright-eyed lad in the front row reassuerd her. He seemed so attentive, so willing to learn!

After class, sure enough, he sidled up to her and said, "Teacher, won't you please smile for me again! I like it when you smile."

Inordinately pleased, the new teacher gave him her broadest grin.

"I knew it," whopped the lad triumphantly. "You look just like a cute chipmunk!"

Bob Campbell, Los Angeles bookseller, persuaded a customer to buy his wife a copy of "The Handbook of Knitting." "I guarantee," averred Campbell, "that this book will keep your wife in stitches."

A young lady who followed this customer into the shop stopped Campbell in his tracks, however. "I want a novel," she declared "by that French author, Risque."

It has been estimated that all of the paper manufactured in England in the entire Seventeenth Century wouldn't suffice for the printing of a single Sunday edition of a metropolitan newspaper. And if Ben Franklin were happily to return to earth and undertake to print on his old handpress, it would take him approximately six months, working 10 hours a day, seven days a week!

WALTER LIPPMANN

The Issue Of Prestige Is Major But It's Hard To Explain It

WASHINGTON—It is unwise of Vice President Nixon to pretend that there is no problem of American prestige—no problem, that is to say, of our power and influence relative to that of the Soviet Union. This is in fact the supreme American problem in this era.

There is no doubt at all that the position of the Soviet Union in world affairs has risen greatly in the past 10 years. This is one of the facts of life. The Soviet Union has risen from military inferiority to military parity, and from a close containment, its influence has expanded into all the continents.

AN OBJECTIVE view of the problem of prestige must begin, it seems to me, with the position of the United States at the end of the second World War. With our monopoly of the atomic bomb, with our brilliant economy in a world where victors and vanquished alike were on the edge of prostration, we were invincible and invulnerable in war and without an equal in the councils of peace.

We were the leading influence in vast new areas of the world which had never before been within the American sphere of influence, the whole Pacific Ocean to the shores of Asia, Europe to the frontiers of the occupation, and all the lands behind the theaters of war from which Japan and Germany had been expelled, into which the Russians had not yet been able to enter.

IN THE FIRST few years after the war, American power and influence had been extended far beyond anything Americans had ever dreamed of or that any sane American had ever wanted.

In many critical ways, as in the Marshall Plan and in our plans for the restoration of the vanquished, we used our power and influence effectively and beneficently. But there was a grievous fault in our policy. It was the failure to realize that our position was greater than it could remain, that we were overextended and that we must prepare to climb down from the dazzling paramountcy of the first post-war year.

The turning point at which our descent had to begin was in 1949, when the Soviet Union not only broke our monopoly of nuclear weapons, but showed the world that out of the devastation of the war she had achieved an economy capable of the highest feats in technology and production.

The story of the '50s is the story of our failure to rise to this challenge, indeed to realize it, and our failure to achieve a foreign policy for what was becoming a wholly new balance of power.

THIS FAILURE to realize what had happened as a result of the rise of the Soviet Union has left us with an economy which is sluggish as compared with our vital needs. It has left us with a defense establishment which is not leading, but is working hard to catch up in the race of armaments.

It has left us with a foreign policy which is defensive and which lacks initiative because at so many critical points it has been immobile—immobile because of our entanglements with Syngman Rhee and with Chiang Kai-shek, and on a different level with Dr. Adenauer.

DeMaestri Hints He May Retire; Tells Of World Series Thrills

It appears Joe DeMaestri has played his last game of professional baseball.

The New York Yankee infielder, relaxing in his San Anselmo home after last week's hectic World Series, indicated he would hang up his glove and spikes before next season and call it a career.

"I haven't made up my mind yet," DeMaestri said yesterday, "but there is one thing for sure: I definitely will not play for the (San Francisco) Giants."

He made this declaration amid reports the Giants were trying to obtain him in a trade with the Yankees. He didn't elaborate on the reasons for his refusal to play for San Francisco.

DeMaestri said he hasn't told the Yankee officials of his plans for 1961, but will do so this winter, probably before the interleague trade period goes into effect.

If DeMaestri does retire, he will be giving up pay in excess of $10,000 per year, probably around $15,000, although his paychecks are strictly his own business and not for publication.

Friends say Joe, 32 and still capable of good major league ball, is tired of the traveling grind, and being away from his family for a good part of the year.

And, they reason, he's had just about every experience and thrill a major leaguer can ask for. Some of his highlights:

TEN-YEAR status in the major league and the pension benefits that go with it.

Action in the World Series.

Two American League defensive championships for shortstop (1957 and 1958).

Selection on the American League All-Star team (1957).

And a special "day" in his honor by Kansas City and Marin County fans who presented him with an automobile, color television set, deep freeze and other gifts.

Never a strong hitter but always a brilliant fielder, DeMaestri did his share to help the Yankees to the championship. Although it was seemingly a minor role, he was used as defensive insurance in late innings of close games all season. It was in that role, too, that he saw World Series action in four of the seven games.

AFTER NINE seasons with "also-ran" clubs (Chicago, St. Louis Browns, Philadelphia and Kansas City, before K. C. swapped him to the Yankees last winter), Joe said it was a tremendous thrill to play with a champion. "And believe me," he said, "those Yankees are the greatest guys I've ever played with. On and off the field they handle themselves like real pros."

The former Tamalpais High School star also had a word of praise for Mickey Mantle. "He's the greatest player I've ever seen—in more ways than one. He never complains, but he plays in great pain. I think the knee is really bad, but he never asks favors and plays his heart out. There is a true champion, in my book."

DeMaestri said Mantle made the best play he'd ever seen. That was in the ninth inning of the final game when it looked like Mantle would be caught off first base for a game-ending double play. Mantle, with a split second masterpiece of thinking, scrambled back to first to avert the double play. "That has to be the best play I've seen. Even the best base runners would have done just the opposite—head for second," Joe opined.

WAS DEMAESTRI nervous when Casey Stengel sent him into the lineup for his first World Series performance? "No, it's funny, but I wasn't a bit nervous. Just the opposite, in fact. I was relaxed, and felt good. Boy, I was just dying to get in those games. It's a thrill, all right."

Joe said he was fortunate in one respect—the bad hop play that injured starting shortstop Tony Kubek and helped the Pirates win the final game. "Funny thing," said Joe, "I was supposed to be in there when it happened. Stengel sent me down to the bullpen to warm up and be ready for the eighth inning. But, I guess he changed his mind, and kept Tony in the lineup for one more inning to keep strength in our batting order."

Asked if he would have played the "bad hop" any differently than Kubek did, Joe laughed: "Yeh, I would have played it differently. I would have caught it—right between the eyes!"

FOR HIS PART in the American League championship, Joe figures to receive about $5,200 World Series pay. Had the Yankees won the world title, his full share would have been approximately $7,900.

I don't know how long it takes you to make $2,700 (the difference between winning and losing) but Joe lost that much in the time it took the ball to sail from Bill Mazeroski's bat over the left field fence.

Joe had just one final word to say about the World Series. "If I never play again, my major league career was made complete when they put me and Yogi Berra as roommates in Pittsburgh. Now I've experienced everything, and when I write a book there'll be a special chapter on Yogi. What a character!

"WHY, DO you know that every night he would sit up and watch the late, late movies on TV until 3 in the morning. I didn't have to play every day, but the Yanks had to depend on him a lot in every game. The night before the final game I fell asleep, but Yogi shook me and said: 'Come on, Joe. There's only about five minutes left in this movie. Watch it with me."

"As I say, now I've seen everything."

When asked about Stengel, Joe concluded: "He made a real nice speech to us after the final game. He thanked us for winning the pennant. Too bad," said Joe, "we couldn't have won the Series for him."

Giants Leave Hawaii For Japan Tour

HONOLULU (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants departed for a barnstorming tour of Japan today, after a brilliant performance in a two-game series here against the Hawaiian All-Stars.

Four San Francisco hurlers combined talents for a no-hitter last night—and the amazing Willie Mays clouted two three-run homers and a double.

The Giants, who defeated the Hawaiians 5-1 Sunday, shut them out 7-0 last night.

Stu Miller, Sam Jones, Billy O'Dell and Bill Loes effectively handcuffed the local team, giving up only four walks. The All-Stars were unable to get past second base, and only three balls were hit out of the infield.

Miller, who went six innings, was the winner as he struck out 11 of the 19 men he faced and walked only one.

Mays led the San Francisco 10-hit attack with two homers over the leftfield fence and a 385-foot ground rule double. Willie Kirkland's double and a single by Andre Rodgers accounted for the other giant run.

More than 4,200 fans watched the game at Honolulu Stadium.

Junior Circuit Worried About Problem Cities

CHICAGO (AP) — The Associated Press learned today that the American League won't immediately follow the example set Monday by the National League when it committed itself to becoming a 10-team league in 1962 by granting franchises to Houston and New York City.

Instead, the American League, at its meeting scheduled for Oct. 26 in New York, will concentrate on settling its realignment problem.

A source close to Del Webb, head of the A.L. expansion committee, said the co-owner of the New York Yankees was "gravely concerned" over such problem cities as Kansas City, Washington and Cleveland.

"I think the American League might have to straighten out its realignment problem before it can take definite and positive steps on expansion," said the source.

According to the informant, the American League will discuss several possibilities:

1. The shifting of the Washington franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul.

2. The desire of Hank Greenberg, part owner of the Chicago White Sox, to obtain a franchise in Washington.

3. The possibility of the Kansas City franchise being moved to Los Angeles.

"And don't overlook the possibility of the Cleveland club being moved elsewhere," added the informant.

Cal, Stanford Coaches Fret At Speed Of Saturday Foes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Opponents' speed worried coaches Marv Levy of California and Jack Curtice of Stanford today as they prepared for Saturday's football games.

California hosts the Ducks of Oregon while Stanford travels to Los Angeles for a Saturday night game against UCLA.

Neither Cal nor Stanford have won a game this season.

Curtice, hung in effigy on the Stanford campus Monday, told Northern California writers and broadcasters:

"Pro scouts say UCLA has three of the fastest defensive backs in college football in Bob Smith, Joe Rosenkrans and Jim Johnson. The entire team has shown speed and agility."

Levy said of Oregon:

"It possibly is the best balanced team we've faced all year with excellent team speed. Mike White scouted Oregon and reported that next to speed its greatest asset is all out pursuit on defense."

Levy termed last Saturday's 27-10 losing battle with Southern California as "an exceptionally clean game."

That was in marked contrast with Coach Pete Elliott's charge last year that Trojan guard Mike McKeever deliberately smashed the cheek of California halfback Steve Bates.

Oregon boasts two swift backs in 5-foot-3 Cleveland Jones and Dave Grayson.

Stanford's 34-20 loss to neighborhood rival San Jose State brought an editorial in the campus newspaper urging the school to de-emphasize football and quit playing teams "with huge monsters who rip our line to shreds."

Curtice declared he doesn't believe his club will be mentally down after losing five straight. He also said he was undecided whether Dick Norman or Rod Sears will start at quarterback against the Uclans.

With receivers dropping passes, Norman proved ineffective in the first half against San Jose and the Spartans took a 21-0 lead.

Sears played the entire second half.

PEARSON TO MINORS

Big League Ball Clubs Stage House Cleaning

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Major league baseball clubs are clearing their rosters for new talent and that meant a trip back to the minors today for such familiar names as Albie Pearson, Don Ferrarese and Al Worthington among others.

The pint-sized, 25-year-old Pearson, who was the American League's rookie of the year with Washington in 1958, was one of four players released outright to Rochester of the International League today by the Baltimore Orioles.

Catcher Valmy Thomas and outfielders Al Nagel and Fred Valentine were assigned to Rochester along with the five-foot-five, 140-pound Pearson who batted .244 in 48 games for Baltimore last season.

In Chicago, owner Bill Veeck said the White Sox may not be better next year but promised "they'll be different."

The White Sox promptly backed up Veeck's words by assigning pitchers Jake Striker, Frank Barnes, Ferrarese and Worthington to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League. At the same time, the White Sox added two players to their roster from Lincoln, Neb., in the Class B Three-I-League. The two men were outfielder Dean Look, former Michigan State quarterback, and right-handed pitcher Alan Brice.

The Kansas City Athletics put in a real busy day, swapping catchers with the Cincinnati Reds, sending four players to the minors and purchasing the contract of eight minor league players.

Kansas City sent catcher Danny Kravitz to Cincinnati for Dutch Dotterer, then assigned Marty Kutyna, Leo Kiely and Ray Jablonski to Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League, and optioned Jim Delsing to Shreveport of the Southern Association.

Purchased by the A's were pitchers Bob Hartman, Bob Flynn, Joe Petricovich and Ken Sanders; infielder Ron Overcash; catcher Billy Bryan and outfielder Frank Cipriana.

The Chicago Cubs assigned pitcher Mark Freeman and outfielder Art Shult to Houston of the American Association on an outright basis and released veteran infielder Grady Hatton and catcher Elvin Tappe.

Milwaukee purchased five minor league players.

Cincinnati bought pitchers Bob Moorhead and Harvey Alex while assigning pitchers Dave Stenhouse and Mike Cuellar to Jersey City of the International Lague. The Reds also purchased infielder Tom Harper from Indianapolis of the American Association.

The Cleveland Indians purchased outfielder Jim King from Toronto, where he was voted the International League's most valuable player this year.

49ers Trade Wittenborn

CHICAGO (AP)—Jerry Wilson, the Philadelphia Eagle end who was ejected from a pre-season game at Kezar Stadium for hitting San Francisco 49er tackle John Thomas, now is Thomas' teammate.

Wilson, a 6-3, 240-pound defensive end from Auburn was acquired yesterday in a trade for 49er guard John Wittenborn.

Wittenborn has been used as a substitute for injured 49er linemen.

A Dedicated Dreamer Dies Without Decision On His Plan

One of California's most dedicated dreamers is dead.

John Reber, 73, devoted the last 30 years of his life to the Reber plan. Years ahead of its time, this proposal for damming both ends of San Francisco Bay into fresh water lakes was designed by Reber for conserving the waters of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers, providing rail and highway transit between the East Bay and the San Francisco and Marin peninsulas, filling the tidelands of the Bay, providing underground facilities for national defense and many other things.

Reber was no engineer. But there were many reputable engineers who studied his plans and found them good. There were just as many who found the plan undesirable and said so sometimes violently.

John Reber was willing to fight for his dream. He was a regular visitor to Marin. He would come here to speak at the drop of an invitation and sometimes, if invitations hadn't been coming in fast enough, he'd come here to drum some up.

He followed his project's fate at the hands of federal officials with tenacity. He had great hopes that the Army Corps of Engineers' current Bay model study at Sausalito would prove his plan feasible.

Each time the federal government would approve another appropriation for continued work on the two-acre model, we at the Independent-Journal would hear it first from John Reber. His lines of communication to Washington were faster than ours.

But Reber didn't live to hear a report on his plan from the Engineers. Indeed, although they have worked out the location and the size of the Reber Plan barriers across the Bay, they have not yet inserted them in the model. So he died without ever having seen a working model of his proposal, much less learn whether the Engineers consider it feasible or not.

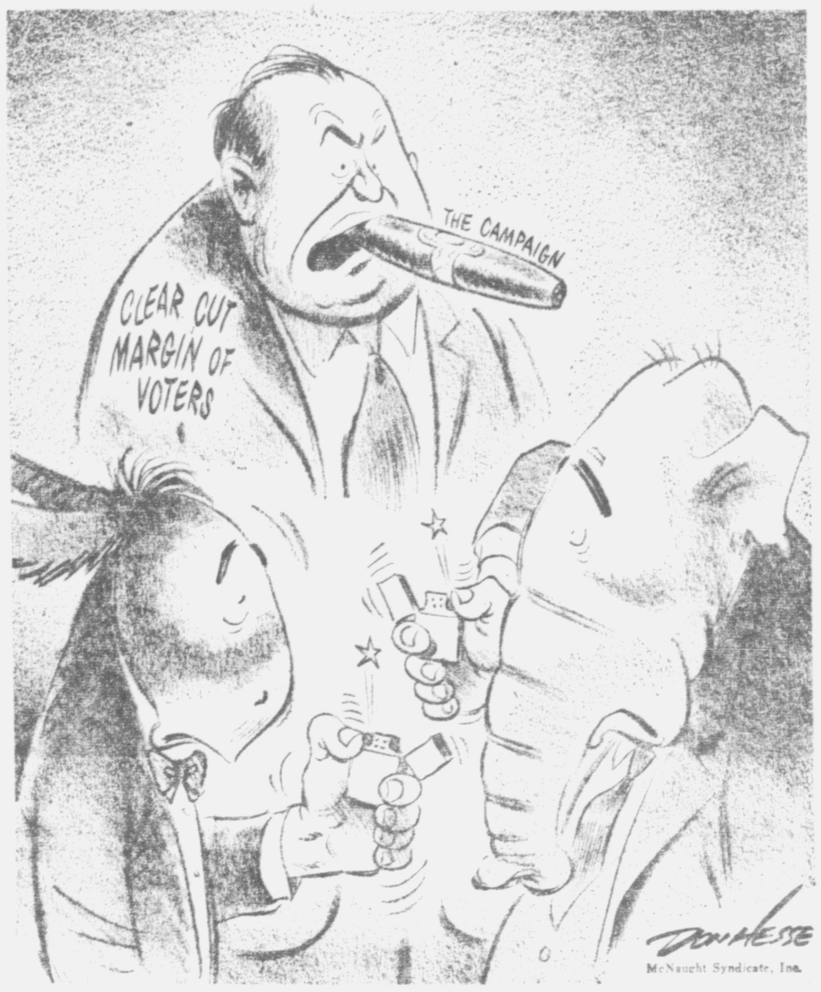

Dedicated men like John Reber are few and far between. He fought tenaciously, particularly when his theories were being challenged.

We did not embrace all of John Reber's proposal. It included a myriad of things, things like filling Richardson Bay and the mouth of Corte Madera Creek from San Quentin to Corte Madera. And like hollowing out the hills of Tiburon Peninsula for underground airports and bombproof torpedo boat berths.

But we respected John Reber's didication, his energy and devotion to his beliefs. He long ago foresaw California's water and transportation problems. And he offered a solution.

That's the type of man we appreciate knowing, whether he's right or wrong. We're sorry John Reber is gone.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

McCarthy Refuses To Talk Schools

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

I wish to take this opportunity to call to the attention of the voters of Marin County State Senator McCarthy's lack of interest in public education in Marin schools.

On Sept. 29, the Marin County School Trustees Association held a meeting to which both Republican and Democratic candidates for sate senator and assemblymen were invited. Each candidate was to answer one question written to him in advance and then answer questions of the trustees from the floor.

Senator McCarthy did not show up but sent a lackey in his place with a written answer to one question. He gave no plausible excuse even though he had over two months' notice of the meeting and had accepted.

Perhaps the senator was afraid to answer questions on his views on public education. But even in that event he should not have accepted when first asked.

Perhaps the senator doesn't think that the school trustees of the county are important enough for him. I would like to point out to the illustrious senator that they are the ones directly responsible to the voters for education in this community.

Since California spends more money for education than for any other item in the budget, I am sure that the senator must admit this warrants his attention even if the education of children in public schools doesn't seem to concern him.

The candidates who did show up certainly did not have all the answers, but they kept their promise and showed a moral responsibility which is obviously lacking in Senator McCarthy.

If Senator McCarthy refuses to discuss education with those elected officials responsible for education in Marin then wtih whom will he discuss the matter?

(NOTE: Just to keep the record straight, Senator McCarthy did not send a "lackey" or anyone else to the meeting referred to by Reader Swabacker. He sent a letter of regret and enclosed his answer to the question asked him. The answer was read by a member of the school boards association.)

FRESH CONCRETE HIS UNDOING

A youthful burglar left behind such a good impression in an Arkansas grocery store he had robbed that it landed him in jail.

The store's resourceful owner, exasperated at having his place looted several nights in succession, hit upon a novel idea for a trap.

He poured fresh cement around the entrance of his establishment and waited for results. Sure enough, the thief arrived, slogged through the thickening mass and made off with his booty.

Police had little trouble in locating the 16-year-old youth, redfaced and shoes covered with the sticky evidence. The money was recovered. Each of us leaves countless footprints, untold impressions, behind us—for better or for worse—in the course of a single day. In Longfellow's words:

"Lives of great men all remind us,
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us

CALIFORNIA—A MYSTERY STATE

Both Parties To Send Bigwigs On Last-Minute Vote Seeking

By JAMES C. ANDERSON

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California, a rich prize with 32 electrial votes, is a mystery state in the coming presidential election.

Although new registration figures show Democrats with a husky bulge of 1,368,922 voters over Republican totals, that by no means guarantees Californians will choose John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, over Richard M. Nixon on Nov. 8.

Californians, despite party registration which for a decade has run 3-2 Democratic, are an independent lot. Thousands of Democrats joined GOP votes in 1952 and 1956 to help elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Who is the favorite as of this moment—Nixon or Kennedy?

Proof that neither is can be found in the fact that both parties marshalled their biggest oratorical guns for a final assault on the golden state in the last three weeks of the campaign.

Kennedy, who already whistle-stopped the length of the state last September, plans to return for a double-barreled assault on vote-heavy Los Angeles and San Francisco the week before the election.

His running mate, Sen Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, will make his initial drive in California next week, with appearances in Los Angeles, San Diego, Fresno and Sacramento.

And that old warhorse, Harry S. Truman, will give the Kennedy-Johnson ticket a helping hand with a major speech at Berkeley on Oct. 28.

AS FOR THE Republicans, Nixon wound up a strenuous four-day swing through his home state last week. He will return once and maybe twice in the closing weeks of the campaign, concentrating on northern and central California and probably making a quick trip to Los Angeles.

His running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, has finished his campaign chores in California but the GOP will call on Thomas E. Dewey to give the ticket a helping hand with speeches in San Francisco and Stockton.

MANY OBSERVERS, after testing the political pulse in the state, predict Nov. 8th will be a cliff-hanger simular to the 1948 election.

In that year, when the Dewey-Warren ticket was a heavy favorite over Truman and Alben W. Barkeley, Truman finally won by only 17,865 votes out of a total of 4,076,981 cast.

It could be that close again. Less than three weeks before the election, the tide does not seem to be running strongly in California for either Nixon or Kennedy.

It Looks Like Boosts Are In Sight For Social Security Deductions

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The outlook for any stability, insofar as contributions to the old age and survivors' insurance program, administered by the federal government, are concerned, is not good at the present time.

In fact, no less an authority than Dr. Arthur Fleming, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, who visited Sacramento recently, says that by 1969, he expects the total contributions to the fund to amount to nine per cent of the total wages paid to people who come under the program, and this includes the greater percentage of the workers in the United States.

THIS WOULD MEAN four and a half per cent from employers of the nation, and the same amount from the workers.

The total is not unexpected. It was contemplated when the old age insurance plan started in 1937 that eventually, the tax would reach this amount.

Somewhat more disturbing, however, is the secretary's assumption that the taxes be pushed higher, in proportion to benefit liberalization, by whatever administration happens to be in office during the next 10 years.

THE PRESENT TAXES, he says, plus the proposed increases in the next 10 years, would be sufficient to finance the old age program,if nothing more is added to the program.

However, the outlook is for much more to be added in the form of benefits, with consequent increases in the contributions from employers and employees.

The history of the program has been one of additions. At the present time consideration is being given to increasing widow's benefits to make them in the same amount a deceased husband would have been receiving.

AND ANOTHER possible increase, Dr. Fleming said, would be inclusion of some four million people under the program who are old enough to receive benefits but who have never been in employment covered by provisions of the security law.

Such an action, he pointed out, might relieve some of the pressure on the states in regard to people who are drawing old age benefits, but the relief would not be in a large amount.

THEN TOO, there is constant consideration of the old age benefit payments. Of course, the trend has been for increases, due to increased costs of living and other factors which make more money necessary.

Altogether, the outlook is gloomy insofar as contributors to the fund are concerned, and the prospect of ever higher taxes is not conducive to bolstering the nation's economy.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

Sgt. Martino Is One Character You're Glad To Have Around

T/Sgt. Tony Martino has two jobs at Hamilton Air Force Base.

He's one of the guys who will jump, probably from a helicopter, to reach a downed plane when getting there by wheel is impossible and by foot would take days. And he teaches water survival to pilots who daily take off over the mud flats adjacent to the base.

He tries to show them, in the swimming pool, how to doff the chute fast, how to inflate the wildly orange-colored life preserver which has replaced the Mae West and looks like a kid's water wings.

YOU SUGGEST taking a few photos at the pool. Martino "volunteers."

He climbs into the orange flying suit. He straps on the orange water wings which will hold him high out of the water. He drapes a parachute over the diving board of the officers' pool and attaches it to the harness wrapped and buckled around him. The parachute pack droops from his backside.

YOU GET INTO a rubber dinghy and maneuver into position. Martino jumps in, releasing the chute perfectly, as pilots are taught so they won't be dragged through the water and drowned. He paddles to the edge of the pool, gets out, dripping cold water from the fall-temperature pool which is shaded from the warm sun.

And you make the time-honored request: "Just one more."

Martino is a character. Walk around the base with him and he is greeted by everyone from airmen basic to colonels, all with a choice crack.

He hears your request, looks at you, water dribbling from him: "OK, babe, but you're going in too."

So Martino climbs up on the diving board again, puts on the rig, buckles the buckles and waits in the cooling breeze while you maneuver into position in the dinghy. And he jumps again.

He puddles out of the pool again, and you say "just one more." He jumps again.

BUT NOW THERE is a firm hand grabbing your arm and propelling you toward another flying suit. "C'mon, you're going to jump."

For once, Martino is open-mouthed and silent as you start to take off the old shirt and jeans in full view of the officers' club. He gulps, almost with relief, as he sees the swimming suit underneath.

You climb to the board and the bulky equipment is strapped on. You find a small rooting section of officers standing on the hill, as Martino asks if you're going to jump or want to be pushed.

You jump.

YOU'RE SUPPOSED to push the chute release buttons just as your feet hit the water. You push the buttons and release the catch, but the chute doesn't come free. You're ignominously dragged to the edge of the pool, feet first, while Martino released it.

You try to wrestle your way into the rubber raft from the water and feel like a whale climbing onto a water ski.

Later you're standing with an officer watching Martino yelling and energetically dragging equipment around.

"If you go down, it's nice to know a guy like Martino is around trying to get you out," the officer says.

WALTER LIPPMANN

The Issue Of Prestige Is Major But It's Hard To Explain It

WASHINGTON—It is unwise of Vice President Nixon to pretend that there is no problem of American prestige—no problem, that is to say, of our power and influence relative to that of the Soviet Union. This is in fact the supreme American problem in this era.

There is no doubt at all that the position of the Soviet Union in world affairs has risen greatly in the past 10 years. This is one of the facts of life. The Soviet Union has risen from military inferiority to military parity, and from a close containment, its influence has expanded into all the continents.

AN OBJECTIVE view of the problem of prestige must begin, it seems to me, with the position of the United States at the end of the second World War. With our monopoly of the atomic bomb, with our brilliant economy in a world where victors and vanquished alike were on the edge of prostration, we were invincible and invulnerable in war and without an equal in the councils of peace.

We were the leading influence in vast new areas of the world which had never before been within the American sphere of influence, the whole Pacific Ocean to the shores of Asia, Europe to the frontiers of the occupation, and all the lands behind the theaters of war from which Japan and Germany had been expelled, into which the Russians had not yet been able to enter.

IN THE FIRST few years after the war, American power and influence had been extended far beyond anything Americans had ever dreamed of or that any sane American had ever wanted.

In many critical ways, as in the Marshall Plan and in our plans for the restoration of the vanquished, we used our power and influence effectively and beneficently. But there was a grievous fault in our policy. It was the failure to realize that our position was greater than it could remain, that we were overextended and that we must prepare to climb down from the dazzling paramountcy of the first post-war year.

The turning point at which our descent had to begin was in 1949, when the Soviet Union not only broke our monopoly of nuclear weapons, but showed the world that out of the devastation of the war she had achieved an economy capable of the highest feats in technology and production.

The story of the '50s is the story of our failure to rise to this challenge, indeed to realize it, and our failure to achieve a foreign policy for what was becoming a wholly new balance of power.

THIS FAILURE to realize what had happened as a result of the rise of the Soviet Union has left us with an economy which is sluggish as compared with our vital needs. It has left us with a defense establishment which is not leading, but is working hard to catch up in the race of armaments.

It has left us with a foreign policy which is defensive and which lacks initiative because at so many critical points it has been immobile—immobile because of our entanglements with Syngman Rhee and with Chiang Kai-shek, and on a different level with Dr. Adenauer.

Duck Season Opens With Bang In Area

The 1960 duck hunting season opened with a bang in northern California last Saturday, Oct. 15 at 12 noon.

Reports from every section of the state were exceptionally good and limits were prevalent over the weekend.

Many hunters were delighted over the large number of ducks concentrated in the Sacramento Valley.

Strong, high winds improved the hunting immensely as the wind kept the birds on the move. The largest flocks of mallards, sprig, widgeon and other species of ducks and geese for many years were in evidence over the weekend. Some of the experts report that the flight was the largest and best in ten years on opening day.

A statement was issued by officials because the adoption this year by the State of California Fish and Game Commission of a federal regulation governing the possession of wild waterfowl taken while hunting has created considerable discussion in sportsmen's circles in the state as hunters prepared for the annual hunting season. It was issued in an effort to protect hunters from unknowingly violating the law.

The Federal regulation covering possession is as follows:

"No person, other than the person who has lawfully taken such birds, shall receive, possess, or have in custody migratory game birds for picking, cleaning, processing, shipping, or for transportation or storage (including temporary storage) unless such birds have a tag attached signed by the hunter stating his address, the total number and kinds of birds, and the date killed."

California further restricts the Federal requirement by requiring the hunter to affix his hunting license number to the tag.

Ths ownership and possession of waterfowl legally taken by a hunter does not cease when a person other than the one who has lawfully taken such birds has these birds in custody. The birds ares till under the ownership of the hunter as the tag attached shall indicate.

In order for a hunter to divest himself of ownership and possession of these birds, they must have been delivered by him to a post office, a common carrier, or a commercial cold storage or locker plant for transportation to some other person other than the hunter. However, Section 2349 of the California Fish and Game Code prohibits shipment of ducks via parcel post.

In duck hunting areas it is reported that the game wardens demand that each hunter tag his ducks if they are placed in a cooler at the duck clubs with the information designating the owner of the birds, date shot, species and hunting license number. All tags must be signed by the owner of the ducks.

The number of waterfowling shotgunners in this State has been spreading steadily downward the past few years, and it is conceivable that there will be less than 100,000 duck stamp buyers in California in 1960.

Last year throughout the Nation, the number of waterfowlers dropped a cool 25 per cent to 1,628,365 from a not too high 2,165,562 in 1958.

As to California, we were actually under the national average with only 114,494 against 161,068 in the comparable period.

Last year so many shooters stayed out of the marshes that for the first time in history Minnesota surpassed California as the leading state in duck stamp sales.

The bag and possession limit is set at six birds. A favored specie of the unattached hunter, the canvasback and redhead is on the restricted list this year.

Remember—in order to hunt ducks or migratory game it is necessary to have a California license which costs $4.00 and a $3.00 federal duck stamp in addition to the necessary equipment and a place to hunt.

Work Ahead Next Weekend

On Monday 24 fish were caught up to 12 pounds. The best time is 2 hours after high tide and in close. The past month fishing was slow, averaged about four fish per day.

The next weekend is our work weekend and we have a lot to do. We need someone to repair our nets and we need some hammers and saws to put up our firehose boxes, build our new control house at the entrance.

This will be our last project of the year so come out and give us a hand and get the jobs done. Bring your hammer and saw and we will supply the lunch.

Crackdown Will Be Continued

Fishermen were warned again recently that Fish and Game Wardens are going to continue concentrating on issuing citations for fishing without a license. Parts of the state have shown an increase in the numbers of this violation over last year, with one region reporting 368 arrests last month alone.

Sportsmen Schedule 'Science In Action'

Students Extended Invitation

Marin County residents will have the pleasure of seeing "Science in Action" program by Dr. Earl S. Herald in person for the first time this Friday, Oct. 21 at 8 p.m.

The program has been arranged by the Marin Rod and Gun Club for its general membership meeting at the clubhouse, Point San Quentin.

President Peter Bertoni extends a personal invitation to members, their families and friends and sportsmen to attend this extraordinary program. Science students are especially invited to see and hear Dr. Herald, one of the country's outstanding curators of aquatic biology.

Dr. Herald will speak on "Zoological Ramblings." He will bring along with him an assortment of live specimens to illustrate his talk. During the evening he will demonstrate the art of milking a rattlesnake, which should create a great deal of of excitement to all present.

Plan now to attend Friday night's meeting—it's going to be a real exciting affair.

Dr. Earl S. Herald, popular program host of "Science in Action," leads a busy life in science as Curator of Aquatic Biology at the Academy's internationally famous Steinhart Aquarium, San Francisco; a trustee of the George Vanderbilt Foundation at Stanford University; and a director of the San Francisco Zoological Society.

The discerning record, American Men of Science, reveals that Dr. Earl S. Herald was born in Phoenix, Arizona, April 10, 1914. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of California, Los Angeles, in June, 1937; his MA at the University of California, Berkeley; and his doctorate at Stanford University in 1943. He has conducted tuna research in the Philippines, Indonesia, and also conducted reef fish investigations for the government during the historic Bikini atomic tests. He has recently completed a book on the Living Fishes of the World to be published by Doubleday in late 1960. Dr. Herald, one of the country's best-known ichthyologists, has been a member of the California Academy of Sciences staff since 1948. He, his wife, and three children live in Westlake, a suburb of San Francisco.

Dr. Herald turned to television with the same enthusiasm he has put into making Steinhart Aquarium among the finest in the world. "Television gave me an opportunity to demonstrate science to more people on a single program than could be reached in any other way,' says Dr. Herald. His appearance during the last nine years on the award-winning "Science in Action" is occasioned by his firm belief in television as a tool for public information in science. Dr. Herald adds one great big if—it has to be good entertainment as well.

Refreshments will be served during the evening.

Let's fill the clubhouse to capacity! There will be no admissions charge.

'SCIENCE IN ACTION'—Dr. Earl E. Herald will be program host at the Marin Rod and Gun Club meeting this Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Every member and their friends are urged to attend this meeting. A real treat is in store for all.

Stands Taken By REA Unit On Game Issues

At a regular meeting of the Sportmen's Council of the Redwood Empire held Sept. 25 at the Marin Rod & Gun Clubhouse, various matters were discussed which are of concern to local sportsmen.

Angling Regulation changes for 1961, it was recommended that the winter steelhead and salmon bag-limit be reduced to two (2) fish in the Eel River watershed, and that the section of the main Eel River between Fern Bridge and the ocean be closed from March 1 to May 30 to trout and salmon fishing. It was also recommended that all of the Qualala River be closed to summer trout fishing. These recommendations were sent to the Fish and Game Commission prior to their Oct. 4 meeting with the understanding that the SCRE would resolve any differences concerning them prior to the commissions' December meeting, at which time all 1961 Angling Regulations are set.

Along with the question of resolving 1961 Angling Regulation changes the SCRE will at the Nov. 12 meeting take action on the following items.

Question of supporting that section of the Busch Bill which gives boards of supervisors veto power over doe shoots.

Question of the SCRE joining the Northern California Wildlife Federation, which is an organization of Northern California Sports groups. Some of the SCRE delegates feel that NCWF is in opposition to the California Wildlife Federation, and that it will eventually break up the state organization. The Marin Rod & Gun Club favors a strong state organization.

Question of payment of 1960-61 CWF dues by the SCRE was questioned and this matter was put over until the Nov. 12 meeting.

How much should the SCRE donate to the CWF 1961 Legislative program, and how shall the funds be raised, is a matter which the SCRE delegates will have to act on at the Nov. 12 meeting, which incidentally will be held at Fort Bragg.

How to improve our California Deer Herds is to be an item of the November 12 agenda. A group of Potter Valley Ranchers who are members of the newly organized Izaak Walton League Sportsmen's Club of Ukiah, have proposed a plan whereby there would be a harvest program put on after the regular buck season. The plan calls for a survey after the regular season by the Department of Fish & Game to determine the maximum carrying capacity of a range. If it is determined that there are too many animals for the range, then permits for the harvesting of Anterless deer would be issued to the landowner at a fee to cover costs of the department survey. As he does with our present harvest of bucks, the landowner could charge access fees and charges for other services he may provide to the hunter of his choice.

Ducks Unlimited Needs And Deserves Support

Sportsmen from coast to coast want to keep the ducks flying. It is through their contributions to Ducks Unlimited that the essentials — food, water, undisturbed shelter for the propagation of waterfowl is restored. Through the co-operation of the Canadian Ducks Unlimited organization and the Canadian government these essentials are achieved through their more than 500 so-called "duck factories." But each year more work must be done, and more "duck factories" must be established. DU needs the support of each and every duck hunter to maintain this project.

A total of $1,550 was collected for the Ducks Unlimited Rally recently concluded. Chairman Emil Bianco wishes to thank all the committee chairmen of the various communities, and all those participating in the sales of tickets, for the gratifying support given him in this project. Acknowledgment of their contributing support is made to the following:

Contest Set For Meeting Of Auxiliary

Following the Auxiliary meeting on Oct. 25, entertainment chairman Lane Harrington has arranged to have a contest between the members featuring table and mantle decorations fashioned from flowers, fruits and greens, and following either "Autumn" or "Holidays" theme. There will be prizes for the most original, most beautiful and most comical. This is a yearly event in the Auxiliary, and is always enjoyed by the members and their guests.

Fishing news for the past month has been quite lively. Carolyn Lato, Elsie Ware and Helen Marzetta came back from the Klamath country with stories of wonderful fishing, and back at home, on the pier, Virginia Sapp landed a 17-pounder in September.

Today is Ladies Day at the pier. Roberta Sturges, who has been fishing chairman for the past two years, moved with her family to the East Bay, and Regina Murray has been appointed to fill her place for the rest of this year.

Helen Schacht, rifle range chairman, is planning a meet at the San Quentin range on Saturday, Nov. 15.

Slight Gain Noted In Bear Bag

A slight increase in the bag of bears in California was reported by the Department of Fish and Game.

Based on bear season kill tags received by the agency through Oct. 7, hunters have taken 280 bears compared to 261 last year at this time.

The early season reports show an increase—68 bears, compared to 44 last season. Late season totals are down slightly from last year—212, compared to 217.

Highest kill to date has been in Plumas County where hunters have killed 27 bears. Mendocino is second with 26, Shasta third with 25 and Humboldt fourth with 24.

Growths On Deer Need Cause No Fear

Hunters who discover warty growths on the skin of deer they have bagged can take comfort in the fact that such growths neither affect the venison nor are they transmissable to man.

FATHER, SON BOTH BAG ANTLERED DOE

Here's one for the book!

Gerald "Cookie" Segale, while hunting at Adin, Modoc County, shot a forked horn doe, which is an exceptional oddity as far as hunting goes. He was in company with Paul Ware Jr. and Ed Milani on the hunting trip. The doe weighed in at 100 pounds.

Attilio Segale, father of Gerald, killed a horned doe about 8 years ago. This is a rare oddity that a father and son should each take antlered does.

This is quite unusual. We might say 50,000 to one. Attilio has been a staunch advocate against doe hunting. However, he can't say he has never shot a doe.

Striped Bass Hot In Rodeo Vicinity

Striped bass fishing has been red hot in the Rodeo area off Buoy 10. All the fish taken have been on bait.

Another hot spot for stripers is near Red Rock at buoy 4 on bait.

A number of good catches of salmon and bass have been taken trolling from Raccoon Straits to Red Rock. Salmon fishing should be good next month in the bay.

Weather permitting, outside the Gate salmon fishing has been good and many large fish taken.

In the Sacramento river, in the Colusa area, salmon fishing has been the best in several years. Last week a 59-pounder was landed.

DeMaestri Hints He May Retire; Tells Of World Series Thrills

It appears Joe DeMaestri has played his last game of professional baseball.

The New York Yankee infielder, relaxing in his San Anselmo home after last week's hectic World Series, indicated he would hang up his glove and spikes before next season and call it a career.

"I haven't made up my mind yet," DeMaestri said yesterday, "but there is one thing for sure: I definitely will not play for the (San Francisco) Giants."

He made this declaration amid reports the Giants were trying to obtain him in a trade with the Yankees. He didn't elaborate on the reasons for his refusal to play for San Francisco.

DeMaestri said he hasn't told the Yankee officials of his plans for 1961, but will do so this winter, probably before the interleague trade period goes into effect.

If DeMaestri does retire, he will be giving up pay in excess of $10,000 per year, probably around $15,000, although his paychecks are strictly his own business and not for publication.

Friends say Joe, 32 and still capable of good major league ball, is tired of the traveling grind, and being away from his family for a good part of the year.

And, they reason, he's had just about every experience and thrill a major leaguer can ask for. Some of his highlights:

TEN-YEAR status in the major league and the pension benefits that go with it.

Action in the World Series.

Two American League defensive championships for shortstop (1957 and 1958).

Selection on the American League All-Star team (1957).

And a special "day" in his honor by Kansas City and Marin County fans who presented him with an automobile, color television set, deep freeze and other gifts.

Never a strong hitter but always a brilliant fielder, DeMaestri did his share to help the Yankees to the championship. Although it was seemingly a minor role, he was used as defensive insurance in late innings of close games all season. It was in that role, too, that he saw World Series action in four of the seven games.

AFTER NINE seasons with "also-ran" clubs (Chicago, St. Louis Browns, Philadelphia and Kansas City, before K. C. swapped him to the Yankees last winter), Joe said it was a tremendous thrill to play with a champion. "And believe me," he said, "those Yankees are the greatest guys I've ever played with. On and off the field they handle themselves like real pros."

The former Tamalpais High School star also had a word of praise for Mickey Mantle. "He's the greatest player I've ever seen—in more ways than one. He never complains, but he plays in great pain. I think the knee is really bad, but he never asks favors and plays his heart out. There is a true champion, in my book."

DeMaestri said Mantle made the best play he'd ever seen. That was in the ninth inning of the final game when it looked like Mantle would be caught off first base for a game-ending double play. Mantle, with a split second masterpiece of thinking, scrambled back to first to avert the double play. "That has to be the best play I've seen. Even the best base runners would have done just the opposite—head for second," Joe opined.

WAS DEMAESTRI nervous when Casey Stengel sent him into the lineup for his first World Series performance? "No, it's funny, but I wasn't a bit nervous. Just the opposite, in fact. I was relaxed, and felt good. Boy, I was just dying to get in those games. It's a thrill, all right."

Joe said he was fortunate in one respect—the bad hop play that injured starting shortstop Tony Kubek and helped the Pirates win the final game. "Funny thing," said Joe, "I was supposed to be in there when it happened. Stengel sent me down to the bullpen to warm up and be ready for the eighth inning. But, I guess he changed his mind, and kept Tony in the lineup for one more inning to keep strength in our batting order."

Asked if he would have played the "bad hop" any differently than Kubek did, Joe laughed: "Yeh, I would have played it differently. I would have caught it—right between the eyes!"

FOR HIS PART in the American League championship, Joe figures to receive about $5,200 World Series pay. Had the Yankees won the world title, his full share would have been approximately $7,900.

I don't know how long it takes you to make $2,700 (the difference between winning and losing) but Joe lost that much in the time it took the ball to sail from Bill Mazeroski's bat over the left field fence.

Joe had just one final word to say about the World Series. "If I never play again, my major league career was made complete when they put me and Yogi Berra as roommates in Pittsburgh. Now I've experienced everything, and when I write a book there'll be a special chapter on Yogi. What a character!

"WHY, DO you know that every night he would sit up and watch the late, late movies on TV until 3 in the morning. I didn't have to play every day, but the Yanks had to depend on him a lot in every game. The night before the final game I fell asleep, but Yogi shook me and said: 'Come on, Joe. There's only about five minutes left in this movie. Watch it with me.'

"As I say, now I've seen everything."

When asked about Stengel, Joe concluded: "He made a real nice speech to us after the final game. He thanked us for winning the pennant. Too bad," said Joe, "we couldn't have won the Series for him."

Giants Leave Hawaii For Japan Tour

HONOLULU (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants departed for a barnstorming tour of Japan today, after a brilliant performance in a two-game series here against the Hawaiian All-Stars.

Four San Francisco hurlers combined talents for a no-hitter last night—and the amazing Willie Mays clouted two three-run homers and a double.

The Giants, who defeated the Hawaiians 5-1 Sunday, shut them out 7-0 last night.

Stu Miller, Sam Jones, Billy O'Dell and Bill Loes effectively handcuffed the local team, giving up only four walks. The All-Stars were unable to get past second base, and only three balls were hit out of the infield.

Miller, who went six innings, was the winner as he struck out 11 of the 19 men he faced and walked only one.

Mays led the San Francisco 10-hit attack with two homers over the leftfield fence and a 385-foot ground rule double. Willie Kirkland's double and a single by Andre Rodgers accounted for the other giant run.

More than 4,200 fans watched the game at Honolulu Stadium.

Junior Circuit Worried About Problem Cities

CHICAGO (AP) — The Associated Press learned today that the American League won't immediately follow the example set Monday by the National League when it committed itself to becoming a 10-team league in 1962 by granting franchises to Houston and New York City.

Instead, the American League, at its meeting scheduled for Oct. 26 in New York, will concentrate on settling its realignment problem.

A source close to Del Webb, head of the A.L. expansion committee, said the co-owner of the New York Yankees was "gravely concerned" over such problem cities as Kansas City, Washington and Cleveland.

"I think the American League might have to straighten out its realignment problem before it can take definite and positive steps on expansion," said the source.

According to the informant, the American League will discuss several possibilities:

1. The shifting of the Washington franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul.

2. The desire of Hank Greenberg, part owner of the Chicago White Sox, to obtain a franchise in Washington.

3. The possibility of the Kansas City franchise being moved to Los Angeles.

"And don't overlook the possibility of the Cleveland club being moved elsewhere," added the informant.

Cal, Stanford Coaches Fret At Speed Of Saturday Foes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Opponents' speed worried coaches Marv Levy of California and Jack Curtice of Stanford today as they prepared for Saturday's football games.

California hosts the Ducks of Oregon while Stanford travels to Los Angeles for a Saturday night game against UCLA.

Neither Cal nor Stanford have won a game this season.

Curtice, hung in effigy on the Stanford campus Monday, told Northern California writers and broadcasters:

"Pro scouts say UCLA has three of the fastest defensive backs in college football in Bob Smith, Joe Rosenkrans and Jim Johnson. The entire team has shown speed and agility."

Levy said of Oregon:

"It possibly is the best balanced team we've faced all year with excellent team speed. Mike White scouted Oregon and reported that next to speed its greatest asset is all out pursuit on defense."

Levy termed last Saturday's 27-10 losing battle with Southern California as "an exceptionally clean game."

That was in marked contrast with Coach Pete Elliott's charge last year that Trojan guard Mike McKeever deliberately smashed the cheek of California halfback Steve Bates.

Oregon boasts two swift backs in 5-foot-3 Cleveland Jones and Dave Grayson.

Stanford's 34-20 loss to neighborhood rival San Jose State brought an editorial in the campus newspaper urging the school to de-emphasize football and quit playing teams "with huge monsters who rip our line to shreds."

Curtice declared he doesn't believe his club will be mentally down after losing five straight. He also said he was undecided whether Dick Norman or Rod Sears will start at quarterback against the Uclans.

With receivers dropping passes, Norman proved ineffective in the first half against San Jose and the Spartans took a 21-0 lead.

Sears played the entire second half.

PEARSON TO MINORS

Big League Ball Clubs Stage House Cleaning

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Major league baseball clubs are clearing their rosters for new talent and that meant a trip back to the minors today for such familiar names as Albie Pearson, Don Ferrarese and Al Worthington among others.

The pint-sized, 25-year-old Pearson, who was the American League's rookie of the year with Washington in 1958, was one of four players released outright to Rochester of the International League today by the Baltimore Orioles.

Catcher Valmy Thomas and outfielders Al Nagel and Fred Valentine were assigned to Rochester along with the five-foot-five, 140-pound Pearson who batted .244 in 48 games for Baltimore last season.

In Chicago, owner Bill Veeck said the White Sox may not be better next year but promised "they'll be different."

The White Sox promptly backed up Veeck's words by assigning pitchers Jake Striker, Frank Barnes, Ferrarese and Worthington to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League. At the same time, the White Sox added two players to their roster from Lincoln, Neb., in the Class B Three-I-League. The two men were outfielder Dean Look, former Michigan State quarterback, and right-handed pitcher Alan Brice.

The Kansas City Athletics put in a real busy day, swapping catchers with the Cincinnati Reds, sending four players to the minors and purchasing the contract of eight minor league players.

Kansas City sent catcher Danny Kravitz to Cincinnati for Dutch Dotterer, then assigned Marty Kutyna, Leo Kiely and Ray Jablonski to Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League, and optioned Jim Delsing to Shreveport of the Southern Association.

Purchased by the A's were pitchers Bob Hartman, Bob Flynn, Joe Petricovich and Ken Sanders; infielder Ron Overcash; catcher Billy Bryan and outfielder Frank Cipriana.

The Chicago Cubs assigned pitcher Mark Freeman and outfielder Art Shult to Houston of the American Association on an outright basis and released veteran infielder Grady Hatton and catcher Elvin Tappe.

Milwaukee purchased five minor league players.

Cincinnati bought pitchers Bob Moorhead and Harvey Alex while assigning pitchers Dave Stenhouse and Mike Cuellar to Jersey City of the International Lague. The Reds also purchased infielder Tom Harper from Indianapolis of the American Association.

The Cleveland Indians purchased outfielder Jim King from Toronto, where he was voted the International League's most valuable player this year.

49ers Trade Wittenborn

CHICAGO (AP)—Jerry Wilson, the Philadelphia Eagle end who was ejected from a pre-season game at Kezar Stadium for hitting San Francisco 49er tackle John Thomas, now is Thomas' teammate.

Wilson, a 6-3, 240-pound defensive end from Auburn was acquired yesterday in a trade for 49er guard John Wittenborn.

Wittenborn has been used as a substitute for injured 49er linemen.

Sportsmen Schedule 'Science In Action'

Students Extended Invitation

Marin County residents will have the pleasure of seeing "Science in Action" program by Dr. Earl S. Herald in person for the first time this Friday, Oct. 21 at 8 p.m.

The program has been arranged by the Marin Rod and Gun Club for its general membership meeting at the clubhouse, Point San Quentin.

President Peter Bertoni extends a personal invitation to members, their families and friends and sportsmen to attend this extraordinary program. Science students are especially invited to see and hear Dr. Herald, one of the country's outstanding curators of aquatic biology.

Dr. Herald will speak on "Zoological Ramblings." He will bring along with him an assortment of live specimens to illustrate his talk. During the evening he will demonstrate the art of milking a rattlesnake, which should create a great deal of of excitement to all present.

Plan now to attend Friday night's meeting—it's going to be a real exciting affair.

Dr. Earl S. Herald, popular program host of "Science in Action," leads a busy life in science as Curator of Aquatic Biology at the Academy's internationally famous Steinhart Aquarium, San Francisco; a trustee of the George Vanderbilt Foundation at Stanford University; and a director of the San Francisco Zoological Society.

The discerning record, American Men of Science, reveals that Dr. Earl S. Herald was born in Phoenix, Arizona, April 10, 1914. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of California, Los Angeles, in June, 1937; his MA at the University of California, Berkeley; and his doctorate at Stanford University in 1943. He has conducted tuna research in the Philippines, Indonesia, and also conducted reef fish investigations for the government during the historic Bikini atomic tests. He has recently completed a book on the Living Fishes of the World to be published by Doubleday in late 1960. Dr. Herald, one of the country's best-known ichthyologists, has been a member of the California Academy of Sciences staff since 1948. He, his wife, and three children live in Westlake, a suburb of San Francisco.

Dr. Herald turned to television with the same enthusiasm he has put into making Steinhart Aquarium among the finest in the world. "Television gave me an opportunity to demonstrate science to more people on a single program than could be reached in any other way,' says Dr. Herald. His appearance during the last nine years on the award-winning "Science in Action" is occasioned by his firm belief in television as a tool for public information in science. Dr. Herald adds one great big if—it has to be good entertainment as well.

Refreshments will be served during the evening.

Let's fill the clubhouse to capacity! There will be no admissions charge.

'SCIENCE IN ACTION'—Dr. Earl E. Herald will be program host at the Marin Rod and Gun Club meeting this Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Every member and their friends are urged to attend this meeting. A real treat is in store for all.

Duck Season Opens With Bang In Area

The 1960 duck hunting season opened with a bang in northern California last Saturday, Oct. 15 at 12 noon.

Reports from every section of the state were exceptionally good and limits were prevalent over the weekend.

Many hunters were delighted over the large number of ducks concentrated in the Sacramento Valley.

Strong, high winds improved the hunting immensely as the wind kept the birds on the move. The largest flocks of mallards, sprig, widgeon and other species of ducks and geese for many years were in evidence over the weekend. Some of the experts report that the flight was the largest and best in ten years on opening day.

A statement was issued by officials because the adoption this year by the State of California Fish and Game Commission of a federal regulation governing the possession of wild waterfowl taken while hunting has created considerable discussion in sportsmen's circles in the state as hunters prepared for the annual hunting season. It was issued in an effort to protect hunters from unknowingly violating the law.

The Federal regulation covering possession is as follows: "No person, other than the person who has lawfully taken such birds, shall receive, possess, or have in custody migratory game birds for picking, cleaning, processing, shipping, or for transportation or storage (including temporary storage) unless such birds have a tag attached signed by the hunter stating his address, the total number and kinds of birds, and the date killed."

California further restricts the Federal requirement by requiring the hunter to affix his hunting license number to the tag.

Ths ownership and possession of waterfowl legally taken by a hunter does not cease when a person other than the one who has lawfully taken such birds has these birds in custody. The birds ares till under the ownership of the hunter as the tag attached shall indicate.

In order for a hunter to divest himself of ownership and possession of these birds, they must have been delivered by him to a post office, a common carrier, or a commercial cold storage or locker plant for transportation to some other person other than the hunter. However, Section 2349 of the California Fish and Game Code prohibits shipment of ducks via parcel post.

In duck hunting areas it is reported that the game wardens demand that each hunter tag his ducks if they are placed in a cooler at the duck clubs with the information designating the owner of the birds, date shot, species and hunting license number. All tags must be signed by the owner of the ducks.

The number of waterfowling shotgunners in this State has been spreading steadily downward the past few years, and it is conceivable that there will be less than 100,000 duck stamp buyers in California in 1960.

Last year throughout the Nation, the number of waterfowlers dropped a cool 25 per cent to 1,628,365 from a not too high 2,165,562 in 1958.

As to California, we were actually under the national average with only 114,494 against 161,068 in the comparable period.

Last year so many shooters stayed out of the marshes that for the first time in history Minnesota surpassed California as the leading state in duck stamp sales.

The bag and possession limit is set at six birds. A favored specie of the unattached hunter, the canvasback and redhead is on the restricted list this year.

Remember—in order to hunt ducks or migratory game it is necessary to have a California license which costs $4.00 and a $3.00 federal duck stamp in addition to the necessary equipment and a place to hunt.

Work Ahead Next Weekend

On Monday 24 fish were caught up to 12 pounds. The best time is 2 hours after high tide and in close. The past month fishing was slow, averaged about four fish per day.

The next weekend is our work weekend and we have a lot to do. We need someone to repair our nets and we need some hammers and saws to put up our firehose boxes, build our new control house at the entrance.

This will be our last project of the year so come out and give us a hand and get the jobs done. Bring your hammer and saw and we will supply the lunch.

Crackdown Will Be Continued

Fishermen were warned again recently that Fish and Game Wardens are going to continue concentrating on issuing citations for fishing without a license. Parts of the state have shown an increase in the numbers of this violation over last year, with one region reporting 368 arrests last month alone.

Ducks Unlimited Needs And Deserves Support

Sportsmen from coast to coast want to keep the ducks flying. It is through their contributions to Ducks Unlimited that the essentials — food, water, undisturbed shelter for the propagation of waterfowl is restored. Through the co-operation of the Canadian Ducks Unlimited organization and the Canadian government these essentials are achieved through their more than 500 so-called "duck factories." But each year more work must be done, and more "duck factories" must be established. DU needs the support of each and every duck hunter to maintain this project.

A total of $1,550 was collected for the Ducks Unlimited Rally recently concluded. Chairman Emil Bianco wishes to thank all the committee chairmen of the various communities, and all those participating in the sales of tickets, for the gratifying support given him in this project. Acknowledgment of their contributing support is made to the following:

Contest Set For Meeting Of Auxiliary

Following the Auxiliary meeting on Oct. 25, entertainment chairman Lane Harrington has arranged to have a contest between the members featuring table and mantle decorations fashioned from flowers, fruits and greens, and following either "Autumn" or "Holidays" theme. There will be prizes for the most original, most beautiful and most comical. This is a yearly event in the Auxiliary, and is always enjoyed by the members and their guests.

Fishing news for the past month has been quite lively. Carolyn Lato, Elsie Ware and Helen Marzetta came back from the Klamath country with stories of wonderful fishing, and back at home, on the pier, Virginia Sapp landed a 17-pounder in September.

Today is Ladies Day at the pier. Roberta Sturges, who has been fishing chairman for the past two years, moved with her family to the East Bay, and Regina Murray has been appointed to fill her place for the rest of this year.

Helen Schacht, rifle range chairman, is planning a meet at the San Quentin range on Saturday, Nov. 15.

Slight Gain Noted In Bear Bag

A slight increase in the bag of bears in California was reported by the Department of Fish and Game.

Based on bear season kill tags received by the agency through Oct. 7, hunters have taken 280 bears compared to 261 last year at this time.

The early season reports show an increase—68 bears, compared to 44 last season. Late season totals are down slightly from last year—212, compared to 217.

Highest kill to date has been in Plumas County where hunters have killed 27 bears. Mendocino is second with 26, Shasta third with 25 and Humboldt fourth with 24.

Growths On Deer Need Cause No Fear

Hunters who discover warty growths on the skin of deer they have bagged can take comfort in the fact that such growths neither affect the venison nor are they transmissable to man.

FATHER, SON BOTH BAG ANTLERED DOE

Here's one for the book!

Gerald "Cookie" Segale, while hunting at Adin, Modoc County, shot a forked horn doe, which is an exceptional oddity as far as hunting goes. He was in company with Paul Ware Jr. and Ed Milani on the hunting trip. The doe weighed in at 100 pounds.

Attilio Segale, father of Gerald, killed a horned doe about 8 years ago. This is a rare oddity that a father and son should each take antlered does.

This is quite unusual. We might say 50,000 to one. Attilio has been a staunch advocate against doe hunting. However, he can't say he has never shot a doe.

Striped Bass Hot In Rodeo Vicinity

Striped bass fishing has been red hot in the Rodeo area off Buoy 10. All the fish taken have been on bait.

Another hot spot for stripers is near Red Rock at buoy 4 on bait.

A number of good catches of salmon and bass have been taken trolling from Raccoon Straits to Red Rock. Salmon fishing should be good next month in the bay.

Weather permitting, outside the Gate salmon fishing has been good and many large fish taken.

In the Sacramento river, in the Colusa area, salmon fishing has been the best in several years. Last week a 59-pounder was landed.

Stag Banquet Date Is Fixed

The thirty-fourth annual stag banquet of the Marin Rod and Gun Club will be held on Saturday evening, January 28. The affair will be held at the Bermuda Palms in San Rafael.

Plans are being made to accommodate 800 members and guests at the banquet tables. Gordon Dixon and Leo Ciucci will be co-chaimen.

Stands Taken By REA Unit On Game Issues

At a regular meeting of the Sportmen's Council of the Redwood Empire held Sept. 25 at the Marin Rod & Gun Clubhouse, various matters were discussed which are of concern to local sportsmen.

Angling Regulation changes for 1961, it was recommended that the winter steelhead and salmon bag-limit be reduced to two (2) fish in the Eel River watershed, and that the section of the main Eel River between Fern Bridge and the ocean be closed from March 1 to May 30 to trout and salmon fishing. It was also recommended that all of the Qualala River be closed to summer trout fishing. These recommendations were sent to the Fish and Game Commission prior to their Oct. 4 meeting with the understanding that the SCRE would resolve any differences concerning them prior to the commissions' December meeting, at which time all 1961 Angling Regulations are set.

Along with the question of resolving 1961 Angling Regulation changes the SCRE will at the Nov. 12 meeting take action on the following items.

Question of supporting that section of the Busch Bill which gives boards of supervisors veto power over doe shoots.

Question of the SCRE joining the Northern California Wildlife Federation, which is an organization of Northern California Sports groups. Some of the SCRE delegates feel that NCWF is in opposition to the California Wildlife Federation, and that it will eventually break up the state organization. The Marin Rod & Gun Club favors a strong state organization.

Question of payment of 1960-61 CWF dues by the SCRE was questioned and this matter was put over until the Nov. 12 meeting.

How much should the SCRE donate to the CWF 1961 Legislative program, and how shall the funds be raised, is a matter which the SCRE delegates will have to act on at the Nov. 12 meeting, which incidentally will be held at Fort Bragg.

How to improve our California Deer Herds is to be an item of the November 12 agenda. A group of Potter Valley Ranchers who are members of the newly organized Izaak Walton League Sportsmen's Club of Ukiah, have proposed a plan whereby there would be a harvest program put on after the regular buck season. The plan calls for a survey after the regular season by the Department of Fish & Game to determine the maximum carrying capacity of a range. If it is determined that there are too many animals for the range, then permits for the harvesting of Anterless deer would be issued to the landowner at a fee to cover costs of the department survey. As he does with our present harvest of bucks, the landowner could charge access fees and charges for other services he may provide to the hunter of his choice.

In the mood of the moment, the popular Rickey smorgasbord will be decked with witches' hats, black cats, and orange and black decor. The Tuesday surprise girls of Jolly Roger will likewise appear, garbed appropriately to tell the tale of the Halloween witch.

Special magic for the witch whose locks need taming will be added by a San Rafael salon of beauty.

In the mood of the moment, the popular Rickey smorgasbord will be decked with witches' hats, black cats, and orange and black decor. The Tuesday surprise girls of Jolly Roger will likewise appear, garbed appropriately to tell the tale of the Halloween witch.

Reservations to enjoy the salute to the Jolly Roger chapter may be made with Rickeys.

Have Our Schools Deteriorated? No, Tests Show They've Improved

Have our schools deteriorated? That's an important question.

Certainly our schools have changed. But is the change for the better or worse?

Many scientific comparisons have been made between the schools of today and those of the past. Usually tests which were used 20, 40, 60 or 100 years ago have been given again in the same classes and under the same conditions. Such comparisons have been made in Boston, New York, San Francisco, Philadelphia and other places.

Can you guess the results? In every comparison today's schools have come out ahead. Our sons and daughters get better scores on the tests than the former pupils did.

In some subjects the improvement is small while in others it is large. No serious deterioration has been found anywhere.

Our schools' greatest surge ahead started with Russia's sputnik. All of a sudden scholarship became respectable. Old courses were revised. Bright kids were given the breaks. Standards were raised. The results are wonderful.

Why do some parents think the schools have gone to pot?

Chiefly, they're afraid of change. Today's schools are not like the ones they attended. They know the old schools succeeded with them. They're afraid they won't succeed with their children. Their memories are selective. They forget bad things and they remember what they enjoyed.

These fears are unnecessary. Our schools have not deteriorated. They're better than they used to be.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "My girl is 3. She started stuttering about a month ago. Is this serious?"

T.D.

(A) Probably not. Most children go through periods of stuttering. Don't scold or punish. Just ignore it. Most likely she'll get over it quickly.

Home Defense Preparedness Series Slated

A five-week civil defense program in home preparedness training will begin Thursday at Hill School in Novato.

D. A. Jensen, Marin County civil defense coordinator, said one session will be held each Thursday from 8 to 10 p.m. Purpose of the program is to emphasize that the main chance of survival depends upon a family's actions in the home.

The sessions will feature speakers, movies and group participation. Topics and speakers scheduled:

Thursday, "Why Family Action?" Jensen and William J. J. Smith, Novato superintendent of schools; Oct. 27, "Family Fallout Shelters," William G. Herrington, chief of the county mobile radiological trailer; Nov. 3, "Family Fire Safety and Rescue," Novato Fire Chief George Cavallero; Nov. 10, "Family Health," sanitarian Maurice Scott of the county health department; and Nov. 17, "First Aid in the Home," Jerry Van Soest, first aid chairman of the Marin Red Cross Chapter.

The program has been arranged by the Parent-Teacher Assn. with cooperation from various service clubs. Jensen said he hoped it would be a forerunner of other workshops throughout the county.

'MY THREE ANGELS'

Cove Players Finish Production Casting

Casting is now completed for the December production by the Cove Players of "My Three Angels," scheduled for three weekends beginning Dec. 2 at the Tiburon Playhouse.

The comedy was written by Sam and Bella Spewack and will be directed by Dan Totheroh. The story centers around three convicts in the penal colony of French Guiana and their madcap antics during a Christmas visit with a French family, the Ducotels. The "angels" manage to involve the family in larceny, murder and romance.

Appearing as Joseph, convict 3011, will be Lawrence J. Allen of Mill Valley. Allen is a newcomer to Cove productions but has previously appeared with Actors Workshop and the Sausalito Little Theater.

Nelson Shreve of Sausalito will play Alfred, convict 4170. He had the lead roles in "Oh Men, Oh Women," "Solid Gold Cadillac" and "Mousetrap." Shreve also designs the programs for each production.

Convict 6817 will be played by Belvederean Charles E. Auerbach, executive vice president of Cove Players. Auerbach's latest role for Cove was in "Tunnel of Love."

The Ducotel family is three: Papa Felix, played by Tobey Casey of Sausalito; wife Emilie, played by Edith Schneider of San Anselmo; Marie Louise, the young daughter, played by Katherine A. Mersereau of Belvedere.

Casey has appeared with the Actors Workshop. Edith Schneider was last seen as the mother in "You Can't Take It With You" for the Cove Players. Katherine Mersereau makes her first appearance in a Cove Players production. She has acted with the Junior Theater of Marin and the San Francisco Children's Theater.

The villain, M. Henri Trochard, will be enacted by Ted Daum of San Francisco, who has appeared in professional and road company productions in the east.

James A. Menlove of San Anselmo plays Trochard's nephew, Paul. He is currently appearing in "Of Thee I Sing" in Sausalito. Robert C. Salvas, Cove Players business manager, turns actor for the part of the lieutenant. He took the part of the mad Russian in "You Can't Take It With You."

Veteran actress Norma Christian will play Madame Parole. Mrs. Christian has been in the Mountain Plays for 15 years and in movies and television. Most recently she was seen in the television series, "Lineup."

Vincent E. Pocaro of San Francisco will design the sets. Technical director is William J. Carter of Tiburon.

As the guests gathered for luncheon in the Fiesta Room, lullabies were played on the piano by Mrs. Martin Rosell of Larkspur. The T-shaped table was covered with a pink cloth and decorated with a stork centerpiece, tall silver candelabra and pink candles. Plumbago carried out the blue tones with pink flowers.

The guest of honor is the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Paris Giannini, long-time residents of Larkspur. Bruce met and married Joyce in Oxford, England, while on tour of duty in the U. S. Air Force. The young couple is expecting their fourth child.

Highlight of the party was the opening of the many beautiful gift packages. She was assisted by Mrs. Daniel Kelly and Mrs. Aldo Cavallero. Centering the gift table was a white nylon ruffled umbrella decorated with a pink and blue nosegay at the top and pink and blue bows tied on the ends.

Guest list included Mrs. Paris Giannini, the grandmother; Mrs. Attilio Giorgi, great-grandmother of the expected baby; Mesdames Charles Giorgi, Ami Pieri, Ernest Valente, Daniel Kelly, Ernest Camporelli, Aldo Cavallero, David Lippi, Hugh Lenci, Robert E. Watson, John Suacci, D. B. Atkins, Harold Keane, John Lococo, F. J. Buscher, Richard Markison, Selby Morse, Martin Rosell, Carlo Baldassari, Peter Giorgi, Stanley Moore, Edwin Adair, Walter Thorsen, Ernie Bianco, Robert Gatowsky, Robert May, Stanley Cazneaux, Elinor Hull and Helen Neils.

Brownie Scouts Decorate Trays For TB Patients

Tuberculosis patients at Ross General Hospital will have a brighter Halloween thanks to the girls of Brownie Scout Troop 101.

The Brownies have cut out tray decorations at regular meetings in Greebrae School. The favors will be brought to the hospital by volunteers of Christmas Seal Patient Services headed by Mrs. Corwin Hinshaw.

Scout leader Mrs. William Odell said "the girls in Brownie Troop 101 are learning about community life and what they can do to help. This service project teaches responsibility for others and cheers up TB victims."

These fourth graders will start Tenderfoot training later this year, according to Mrs. Odell.

Reed P-TC Gives Book Fair Date

The annual Book Fair of the Reed District Parent-Teacher Club will be held this year from Oct. 30 through Nov. 6 according to Mrs. Edwin Sinclair, general chairman.

A premiere party will be held at the Bel Aire school on opening day in the multipurpose room from 2 to 5 p.m. Refreshments will be served. During the week the books will travel to the four schools in the district where they will be inspected by the children. A meet-the-author's party will be held on the closing day.

Visiting Their Aunt

Visiting Mrs. H. A. Duffy of San Rafael are her two nieces, Mrs. Thomas Booth of Waukegan, Ill. and the latter's sister, Mrs. Carl Turk of San Diego. They arrived by plane yesterday.

Have Our Schools Deteriorated? No, Tests Show They've Improved

Have our schools deteriorated? That's an important question.

Certainly our schools have changed. But is the change for the better or worse?

Many scientific comparisons have been made between the schools of today and those of the past. Usually tests which were used 20, 40, 60 or 100 years ago have been given again in the same classes and under the same conditions. Such comparisons have been made in Boston, New York, San Francisco, Philadelphia and other places.

Can you guess the results? In every comparison today's schools have come out ahead. Our sons and daughters get better scores on the tests than the former pupils did.

In some subjects the improvement is small while in others it is large. No serious deterioration has been found anywhere.

Our schools' greatest surge ahead started with Russia's sputnik. All of a sudden scholarship became respectable. Old courses were revised. Bright kids were given the breaks. Standards were raised. The results are wonderful.

Why do some parents think the schools have gone to pot?

Chiefly, they're afraid of change. Today's schools are not like the ones they attended. They know the old schools succeeded with them. They're afraid they won't succeed with their children. Their memories are selective. They forget bad things and they remember what they enjoyed.

These fears are unnecessary. Our schools have not deteriorated. They're better than they used to be.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "My girl is 3. She started stuttering about a month ago. Is this serious?"

T.D.

(A) Probably not. Most children go through periods of stuttering. Don't scold or punish. Just ignore it. Most likely she'll get over it quickly.

Home Defense Preparedness Series Slated

A five-week civil defense program in home preparedness training will begin Thursday at Hill School in Novato.

D. A. Jensen, Marin County civil defense coordinator, said one session will be held each Thursday from 8 to 10 p.m. Purpose of the program is to emphasize that the main chance of survival depends upon a family's actions in the home.

The sessions will feature speakers, movies and group participation. Topics and speakers scheduled:

Thursday, "Why Family Action?" Jensen and William J. J. Smith, Novato superintendent of schools; Oct. 27, "Family Fallout Shelters," William G. Herrington, chief of the county mobile radiological trailer; Nov. 3, "Family Fire Safety and Rescue," Novato Fire Chief George Cavallero; Nov. 10, "Family Health," sanitarian Maurice Scott of the county health department; and Nov. 17, "First Aid in the Home," Jerry Van Soest, first aid chairman of the Marin Red Cross Chapter.

The program has been arranged by the Parent-Teacher Assn. with cooperation from various service clubs. Jensen said he hoped it would be a forerunner of other workshops throughout the county.

3 Marin Poets Receive Awards

Three Marin poets won honors in the Ina Coolbrith Circle's annual poetry contest and were presented their awards at a Poetry Day banquet Saturday in Berkeley.

Benjamin Draper of 110 Longfellow Road, Mill Valley, received honorable mention for his "Jessie Benton Fremont." Sybil Schneller of 415 Shoreline Highway, Mill Valley, received honorable mention for "Of the Gallant Band." Mary Hedin of 182 Oak Avenue, San Anselmo, was given a commendation for "Unknown These Children."

First prize was won by Elma Dean of Oakland.

Ends Recruit Training

William M. Purtell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Purtell of 111 Buena Vista, Corte Madera, has been graduated from recruit training at the San Diego Naval Training Center.

'MY THREE ANGELS'

Cove Players Finish Production Casting

Casting is now completed for the December production by the Cove Players of "My Three Angels," scheduled for three weekends beginning Dec. 2 at the Tiburon Playhouse.

The comedy was written by Sam and Bella Spewack and will be directed by Dan Totheroh. The story centers around three convicts in the penal colony of French Guiana and their madcap antics during a Christmas visit with a French family, the Ducotels. The "angels" manage to involve the family in larceny, murder and romance.

Appearing as Joseph, convict 3011, will be Lawrence J. Allen of Mill Valley. Allen is a newcomer to Cove productions but has previously appeared with Actors Workshop and the Sausalito Little Theater.

Nelson Shreve of Sausalito will play Alfred, convict 4170. He had the lead roles in "Oh Men, Oh Women," "Solid Gold Cadillac" and "Mousetrap." Shreve also designs the programs for each production.

Convict 6817 will be played by Belvederean Charles E. Auerbach, executive vice president of Cove Players. Auerbach's latest role for Cove was in "Tunnel of Love."

The Ducotel family is three: Papa Felix, played by Tobey Casey of Sausalito; wife Emilie, played by Edith Schneider of San Anselmo; Marie Louise, the young daughter, played by Katherine A. Mersereau of Belvedere.

Casey has appeared with the Actors Workshop. Edith Schneider was last seen as the mother in "You Can't Take It With You" for the Cove Players. Katherine Mersereau makes her first appearance in a Cove Players production. She has acted with the Junior Theater of Marin and the San Francisco Children's Theater.

The villain, M. Henri Trochard, will be enacted by Ted Daum of San Francisco, who has appeared in professional and road company productions in the east.

James A. Menlove of San Anselmo plays Trochard's nephew, Paul. He is currently appearing in "Of Thee I Sing" in Sausalito. Robert C. Salvas, Cove Players business manager, turns actor for the part of the lieutenant. He took the part of the mad Russian in "You Can't Take It With You."

Veteran actress Norma Christian will play Madame Parole. Mrs. Christian has been in the Mountain Plays for 15 years and in movies and television. Most recently she was seen in the television series, "Lineup."

Vincent E. Pocaro of San Francisco will design the sets. Technical director is William J. Carter of Tiburon.

Melodrama Scheduled As Drake Term Play

Sir Francis Drake High School's term play, a melodrama, is scheduled for Nov. 18 and 19, drama adviser Robert Johnson announced.

Marinites Help Movie Production

Three Marin County filmmakers were involved in the movie production of John Steinbeck's "Flight," to be shown for the first time in this country at the San Francisco International Film Festival on Oct. 24.

Produced by Barnaby Conrad of Belvedere, who wrote the screen play, the film was directed by Louis Bispo of Mill Valley. Director of photography for the film, described as the first full length feature film produced in the Bay Area by local people, was Verne Carlson, also of Mill Valley.

The motion picture has won praise at both the London and Edinburgh film festivals. A second showing will be held next Tuesday.

U.S. To Operate First Automatic Post Office

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—The nation's first automatic post office—a marvel of chutes, slides, conveyors and mechanical brains—is scheduled for dedidcation Thursday.

The Post Office Department says it feels fewer hands will push through a larger volume of mail in shorter time with the aid of the new mechanical and electronic devices.

About 500 employees will work in the new post office, handling about one and one-half million pieces of mail a day.

Postal officials say the new post office will have about 50 fewer employees than the present downtown Providence Post Office, but will handle approximately a half million more pieces of mail daily.

The building is 420 feet long and 300 feet wide and cost 20 million dollars.

The post office is equipped with four electronic machines which have been used separately before in the United States or Europe but never before as linked units under one roof.

The four major electronic machines are:

1. Six cullers with vibrating trays which shake the mail apart, pushing aside small packages and other odd bits of mail while permitting normal letter mail to slide past onto a conveyor belt. The belt eventually takes the letters to face cancelers. The small packages and odd-sized mail go to a point where they can be handled by hand.

2. Six face cancelers which turn the letters address side up and cancel the stamp. The machine is equipped with a scanning light which locates the stamp for the canceling unit. A total of 24,000 letters and cards can be faced and canceled by the machine each hour.

3. A 15-ton letter sorter. With the use of a key punch code system, operated manually, the machine carries each letter separately along a belt and drops the letter in any one of 300 bins, depending on its destination. The letters in the bins are picked out by hand, tied mechanically, and sent along in trays for sacking or distribution by carriers.

4. A package-sorting machine. Packages are sorted before clerks code each one. The code cards and packages move along a belt until a memory unit on the machine tips each one into its proper destination bin.

The slides pile the sacks for movement into trucks.

Pines To Go In At Marin Estates

Marin Estates Home Owners Assn. of Corte Madera has set aside Oct. 29 as landscaping day.

Fifteen hundred Monterey pines are to be planted on slopes adjacent to Grananda and Sonora Drives on that date, announced John Maurer, chairman of the project.

Assistance of as many home owners as possible will be needed for the big tree planting project, Maurer said. The little plants, four to eight inches high, will be distributed to home owners that morning for immediate planting.

Unrelated Twins

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP)—A cow belonging to a farmer near here had a multiple birth recently but the offspring can hardly be called twins.

One is a Hereford heifer; the other a Guernsey bull.

The two different breeds from the same cow is the result of some scientific meddling. The Guernsey is attributed to artificial insemination; the Hereford to later service by a bull.

Woman Injured By Meat Machine Suing For $45,000

A $45,000 damage suit was filed in Marin County Superior Court yesterday by a San Rafael woman whose hand was mangled in a hamburger machine.

The suit was filed for Mrs. Helen Graddy of 543 Thyme Place, San Rafael, by attorney A. E. Bagshaw against the Mission City Meat Co., 647 Irwin Street, San Rafael, and three John Does.

Mrs. Graddy was operating a machine which packs ground meat into hamburger patties on Nov. 12, 1959, when her hand was pulled into the rollers and crushed, her attorney said. The third and little finger of her left hand had to be amputated and she spent 31 days in the hospital, she alleges.

RETREATS ENCOURAGED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Force chaplains are conducting a series of "Spiritual Life Conference" retreats at key sites around the nation. Regulations permit Protestant officers, airmen and their dependents to attend at their own expense—without the time being charged against their accrued leave time.

Marinites Help Movie Production

Three Marin County filmmakers were involved in the movie production of John Steinbeck's "Flight," to be shown for the first time in this country at the San Francisco International Film Festival on Oct. 24.

Produced by Barnaby Conrad of Belvedere, who wrote the screen play, the film was directed by Louis Bispo of Mill Valley. Director of photography for the film, described as the first full length feature film produced in the Bay Area by local people, was Verne Carlson, also of Mill Valley.

The motion picture has won praise at both the London and Edinburgh film festivals. A second showing will be held next Tuesday.

U.S. To Operate First Automatic Post Office

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—The nation's first automatic post office—a marvel of chutes, slides, conveyors and mechanical brains—is scheduled for dedidcation Thursday.

The Post Office Department says it feels fewer hands will push through a larger volume of mail in shorter time with the aid of the new mechanical and electronic devices.

About 500 employees will work in the new post office, handling about one and one-half million pieces of mail a day.

Postal officials say the new post office will have about 50 fewer employees than the present downtown Providence Post Office, but will handle approximately a half million more pieces of mail daily.

The building is 420 feet long and 300 feet wide and cost 20 million dollars.

The post office is equipped with four electronic machines which have been used separately before in the United States or Europe but never before as linked units under one roof.

The four major electronic machines are:

1. Six cullers with vibrating trays which shake the mail apart, pushing aside small packages and other odd bits of mail while permitting normal letter mail to slide past onto a conveyor belt. The belt eventually takes the letters to face cancelers. The small packages and odd-sized mail go to a point where they can be handled by hand.

2. Six face cancelers which turn the letters address side up and cancel the stamp. The machine is equipped with a scanning light which locates the stamp for the canceling unit. A total of 24,000 letters and cards can be faced and canceled by the machine each hour.

3. A 15-ton letter sorter. With the use of a key punch code system, operated manually, the machine carries each letter separately along a belt and drops the letter in any one of 300 bins, depending on its destination. The letters in the bins are picked out by hand, tied mechanically, and sent along in trays for sacking or distribution by carriers.

4. A package-sorting machine. Packages are sorted before clerks code each one. The code cards and packages move along a belt until a memory unit on the machine tips each one into its proper destination bin.

Each sack of outgoing mail is coded with the aid of a switch on the hook holding the bag so it can be dropped off automatically at one of 70 slides ringing the building.

The slides pile the sacks for movement into trucks.

Unrelated Twins

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP)—A cow belonging to a farmer near here had a multiple birth recently but the offspring can hardly be called twins.

One is a Hereford heifer; the other a Guernsey bull.

The two different breeds from the same cow is the result of some scientific meddling. The Guernsey is attributed to artificial insemination; the Hereford to later service by a bull.

Pines To Go In At Marin Estates

Marin Estates Home Owners Assn. of Corte Madera has set aside Oct. 29 as landscaping day.

Fifteen hundred Monterey pines are to be planted on slopes adjacent to Grananda and Sonora Drives on that date, announced John Maurer, chairman of the project.

Assistance of as many home owners as possible will be needed for the big tree planting project, Maurer said. The little plants, four to eight inches high, will be distributed to home owners that morning for immediate planting.

Woman Injured By Meat Machine Suing For $45,000

A $45,000 damage suit was filed in Marin County Superior Court yesterday by a San Rafael woman whose hand was mangled in a hamburger machine.

The suit was filed for Mrs. Helen Graddy of 543 Thyme Place, San Rafael, by attorney A. E. Bagshaw against the Mission City Meat Co., 647 Irwin Street, San Rafael, and three John Does.

Mrs. Graddy was operating a machine which packs ground meat into hamburger patties on Nov. 12, 1959, when her hand was pulled into the rollers and crushed, her attorney said. The third and little finger of her left hand had to be amputated and she spent 31 days in the hospital, she alleges.

RETREATS ENCOURAGED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Air Force chaplains are conducting a series of "Spiritual Life Conference" retreats at key sites around the nation. Regulations permit Protestant officers, airmen and their dependents to attend at their own expense—without the time being charged against their accrued leave time.
